B.C. Premier Challenges C.C.F. Chief

Racial Prejudice Charge Countered

Premier W. A. C. Bennett today hotly demanded that C.C.F. national leader M. J. Coldwell name the cabinet ministers he claims are "steeped in racial prejudice," or apologize publicly to the people of British Columbia.

The premier said he was "amazed" to note in the newspapers Mr. Coldwell was quoted as saying in Vancouver: that B.C.'s new provincial government is steeped in racial prejudices.

"This statement is not true," declared Premier Bennett. "As premier of B.C., I call upon Mr. Coldwell to name the cabinet ministers to whom he refers, or to apologize to the people of B.C."

The premier laid great stress on "the seriousness of Mr. Coldwell's statement." He said a "knock against the government like this is a knock against the people."

Noting the C.C.F. leader's statement that Social Credit must be stopped, Premier Bennett replied: "Of course, Socialists everywhere would like to stop good government like has been given for 17 years in Alberta. And when the policies of this (B.C.) government are better known, Social Credit will expand throughout the whole Dominion."

There is little doubt, he added, that the Socialists are "full of panic" about the progress of Social Credit. "The drubbing the Socialists took in Alberta recently is still fresh in their minds, he said."

After branding the Social Credit government as one steeped in racial prejudice and "dangerous to freedom and social progress," Mr. Coldwell, in his Vancouver address, scolded his party for electing five Social Credit candidates on their second choice. He told the meeting Social Credit must be stopped as soon as possible.

As Big Ben struck 11 o'clock, all Britain was hushed for the traditional two minutes' silence.

The Duke of Edinburgh at her side, the Queen stood erect and silent at the Cenotaph until the final notes of the Last Post died away on the chill morning wind.

The Queen laid her wreath of poppies at the foot of the Cenotaph.

Edinburgh and the Duke of Gloucester, the Queen's uncle, followed with their wreaths. The two-minute silence was broken momentarily when a man shouted "Heil Hitler." There was a chorus of boos from the crowd and a short scuffle, then police led the man away.

Prime Minister Winston Churchill, members of his government and the opposition, high commissioners of the Commonwealth and service chiefs took part in the ceremony.

From a balcony overlooking the Cenotaph, the Queen Mother, Princess Margaret, the Duchess of Gloucester and Princess Marie Louise, the Queen's great-aunt, joined in the singing of "O God, Our Help in Ages Past."

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10 (AP)—President-Elect Dwight Eisenhower today was reported planning a conference, before going to Korea, with Republican legislative leaders.

SUGGEST ADLAI AS U.K. ENVOY

LONDON, Nov. 10 (Reuters)—The tabloid Daily Mirror today calls upon president-elect Dwight D. Eisenhower to "honor" Britain by naming Governor Adlai E. Stevenson as United States Ambassador to this country.

A New York dispatch to the mass circulation newspaper says "Surely this is the most suitable post" for the Democrats' presidential candidate, who retires as governor of Illinois in January.

"Britons have come to admire Stevenson just from reading about him," the dispatch says. "You might say he even speaks our language and shares our sense of humor."

H-BOMB BLEW UP ISLAND WITNESS SAYS

180 Degrees Heat Felt 30 Miles Off

LIMA, O., Nov. 10 (AP)—A mile-wide island disappeared in a recent atomic or hydrogen bomb explosion at Eniwetok in the Pacific, an eye-witness wrote Lima relatives.

The unidentified eye-witness didn't say he watched the first explosion of a hydrogen bomb but the Lima News, which published the letter in a copyrighted story, said "it is apparent that the explosion he felt and saw was America's first experiment with a hydrogen bomb."

The man wrote that he watched the explosion from 30.4 miles away but that heat from the bomb was 180 degrees when it reached him. He said flame two miles wide shot five miles into the air.

A 20-mile-wide mushroom drew thousands of tons of earth into the sky. It looked like a giant cauliflower, the man said.

"About 15 minutes after shot time, he wrote, 'the island on which the bomb had been set off started to burn and it turned a brilliant red. It burned for over six hours, gradually becoming smaller."

"Within six hours, an island that once had palm trees and coconuts was now nothing. A mile-wide island had actually disappeared."

DIARY DESCRIPTION

"Well, 'boomday' is all over," the man began in his letter. "And, believe me I wouldn't have missed it for $1,000,000. It was really a very wonderful thing and I will try to put it in words. 'I'll give you a run-down in diary form."

"1. October, 1952, 0600 all hands muster, 0630 all personnel topside. Must wear protective clothing. 0700 shot time is not 15 minutes away. 0705 we were told where the explosion was to be, and to turn away from this point and cover our eyes with our arms. Ten seconds after the shot we would be able to look with no damage to our eyes. 0715 shot time."

"We didn't know the explosion had taken place but within five seconds we felt the heat waves in our back. It was hot, about 180 degrees when it hit us and were were 30.4 miles away from dead center. Thirteen seconds after shot time I looked up. I could hardly believe my eyes. A flame about two miles wide was shooting five miles into the air. It has before in similar cases, the Atomic Energy Commission in Washington declined comment on the account."

Scene of Fatal City Accident

worth to his home Sunday evening. He died in Royal Jubilee Hospital two and one-half hours later.

86-Year-Old Man Dies After Being Hit by Auto

ERNEST CARTER ... accident victim

Wife, Daughter Watch in Horror; Happy Family Party Planned

An elderly Victoria man was killed, and two other persons were injured seriously when struck by cars on city streets over the week-end.

Dead is 86-year-old Ernest W. Carter, 1469 Hillside, hit crossing the street outside his home shortly after 7:30 p.m. Sunday while his wife and daughter watched in horror.

Mr. and Mrs. Carter, who were to celebrate their diamond wedding anniversary next week, had just alighted from the car of their son, D. H. Carter, with their daughter, Mrs. Phyllis Tait.

Mrs. Carter and Mrs. Tait had crossed the road, and Mr. Carter was "catching up" with them after chatting a second with his son.

The women had reached the opposite side of the street and were turning to wait for "dad" when an east-bound car struck him.

The elderly man was thrown high in the air and his body fell to the pavement.

He died in Jubilee Hospital less than three hours later. He did not regain consciousness.

Two others pedestrians injured in week-end traffic accidents are: Mrs. D. Bell, 1006 Broad, who is in "fair" condition at Jubilee Hospital with a fractured pelvis, and a fracture of the left leg; and Richard Corner, 27, of 164 Sims, in Jubilee with a fractured left leg, severe facial cuts and bruises. His condition also was reported as being only "fair."

Mrs. Hyde was struck by a car at Fort and Broad at 6:40 p.m. Saturday, and Mr. Corner was in a similar accident at Kings and Douglas at 12:15 a.m. Sunday.

family following a year later. He homesteaded at Kamloops for a number of years, coming to Victoria with his family in 1911.

He worked as a cabinet-maker here for over 30 years, 15 years before retirement from Duggan-Hibben Ltd.

"My father never had a sick day in his life; looked more like 70 than his real age," said Mrs. Tait.

Other sons and daughters are Mrs. Effie Pugh, Victoria, and R. E. Carter, Calgary.

Following the accident in which Mr. Corner was injured, John Brotherton, 579 McKenzie Avenue, alleged to be the driver of the car involved, pleaded not guilty to a charge of driving while his ability was impaired by alcohol. He was remanded in police court this morning to November 14 for trial. Magistrate H. C. Hall set bail at $500.

Police said the car was proceeding north on Douglas and Mr. Corner was apparently crossing Douglas, east to west, south of Kings. It is reported the pedestrian was knocked out of his shoes by the impact.

The car involved in the accident which injured Mrs. Hyde was reported by police to have been driven by Herbert Spencer Wetherell, 1133 Fort Street, holder of a minor's license.

British Columbia's three-man liquor inquiry commission is expected to return to Victoria for another hearing shortly after its final Vancouver sitting Nov. 19.

A commission spokesman said today a second Victoria hearing is "almost certain," but the date has not been fixed.

'Hitler Alive in Argentina' Club Smashed in New Orleans

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 10 (AP)—The smashing of a juvenile "Nazi stormtrooper club" was announced here today and the defiant head of the organization told police "I have information that Hitler is still alive in Argentina and I am going there."

The F.B.I. was called into the case because of the "subversive" character of the gang.

F.B.I. agent J. M. Lopez said the F.B.I. checked into the case to see if any federal laws had been violated.

The club had nine officers, police said, and used the Nazi Swastika as its emblem.

Since all members are juveniles, police did not release their names. An eight-year-old boy who was denied membership in the club led to the smashing of the gang, police said. The child told police of some activities and where some members lived.

About 4,000 rounds of .22-calibre ammunition, shot-gun shells, and several knives were seized in an abandoned building.

Now that mankind has the hydrogen bomb, according to latest reports, maybe we better put that civil defense headquarters under a bigger school.

Vishinsky Calls for U.N. Commission to Solve War

NEW DELHI, Nov. 10 (Reuters)—Prime Minister Nehru has been in communication with the Communist Chinese premier, Chou En Lai, over the deadlock in the Korean peace talks, it was learned here tonight.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., Nov. 10 (AP)—Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky today called for creation of a U.N. commission on which Russia, the United States and Communist China would be included to settle the Korean war.

Other countries Vishinsky suggested for the commission were Britain, France, India, Burma, Switzerland, Czechoslovakia, North Korea and South Korea.

In a two hour and 32 minute speech to the U.N.'s 60-member political committee, Vishinsky turned down all compromise proposals for settling the prisoner-of-war deadlock at Panmunjom and warned that adoption of an American resolution backing up the U.N. negotiators would wreck the talks and lead to protraction of the war.

Vishinsky warned his audience, which included Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden of Britain, U.S. State Secretary Acheson and French Foreign Minister Robert Schumann, that Russia "would not budge" from its insistence that all prisoners be sent home.

He urged the U.N. to instruct the commission to "take immediate measures for the settlement of the Korean question . . . including the extending of all possible assistance to the repatriation of all prisoners of war by both sides."

This was a revised draft of an earlier Soviet plan. For the first time the Kremlin's top diplomat spelled out the names of those countries he thought should get together to settle the conflict and added specific instruction to them to insist on repatriation of all prisoners.

Vishinsky spurned compromise plans offered by Mexico and Peru, on the prisoners' issue as "scarcely distinguishable from the proposals of the American command" and "incompatible with international law."

Delegates regarded his speech as dashing all hope for a Korean peace on the basis of U.N. terms and ending a widespread hope that some country such as India might come up with an acceptable compromise.

His promise "not to budge"—which he emphasized by saying it came from "the Soviet government expressed through its delegation"—was considered a door-slamming by the Reds to a truce except along the lines laid down by Vishinsky.

He charged that the U.S. knew in advance that the terms of its resolution would be rejected by the Chinese and North Koreans.

Vishinsky thought the commission would take over the work now being done by the negotiators at Panmunjom. In previous speeches on the earlier version of his resolution, he said Russia did not contemplate shifting truce talks submitted as part of this plan to keep the war going. The U.S. knew, he said, that the Chinese and North Koreans would not agree to it and this "would inevitably lead to the collapse of the talks (at Panmunjom) and the expansion of the war."

The Soviet foreign minister said the U.S. resolution confirmed that Washington does not want peace through negotiation, but is interested only in a "military" decision—victory at all costs.

Haywood or Reuther May Succeed Murray

Speculation Over New C.I.O. President Following Death of Veteran Leader

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 10 (AP)—Philip Murray, who rose from an immigrant Scots boy to become head of the C.I.O., died Sunday of a heart attack.

At 66 a veteran of half a century's work in labor's cause, he was stricken in his sleep at the Mark Hopkins Hotel here. His wife, Elizabeth, awoke to find him sprawled on the floor beside his bed. Twenty minutes later a physician pronounced him dead.

A mine worker at the age of 10, he spent a night before his death at a meeting of his United Steel Workers, who presidency he held concurrently with the presidency of the parent C.I.O.

There, he spoke of labor's gains, promised "wholesome support to any administration that has in mind constructive measures for the common people," and defied "special groups" to take away labor's gains.

As for Murray's successor, much of the speculation is centred on two men—Allan S. Haywood, veteran C.I.O. executive vice-president, and Walter Reuther, United Auto Workers' president.

Haywood, long a stalwart in the C.I.O.'s organization campaigns, is a veteran administrator. But his age, 64, could work against him.

Reuther, 45, head of the powerful auto workers' union, is popular and energetic. But he may not want the responsibility of both jobs.

Murray was born at Blantyre, Scotland, in 1886. He was introduced to unionism at the age of six, when his father took him to a local meeting.

He was 16 when his family immigrated to the bituminous coal fields of western Pennsylvania.

THE LATE PHIL MURRAY ... died Sunday

Local Unionists Offer Sympathy

Victoria unionists affiliated with the C.I.O. today mourned the death Sunday of president Philip Murray.

"He was always a great friend and staunch supporter of the Canadian Congress of Labor," said Robert Smeal, president of the Victoria Labor Council (C.C.L.). "He had the admiration and respect of all C.I.O.-C.C.L. unions, and his passing will be a great loss to us."

ON THE TIMES

By ART STOTT

"It is the silence itself that is the most impressive," my friend, who fought at Mons, tells me. "It is those two minutes of quiet, when pictures come up, when you see again the men you are honoring, when recollection, keep but not bitter, fills you. It is something you feel, not a thing of words, not something that can be put into words. They seem to be with you again—I can't quite explain it."

You sense the experience and what it means to him. You know that hundreds share it in that brief period when conscious human sound is stilled about the War Memorial, when the dry rustle of leaves on November trees is an empty noise, apart from them as they stand in silent memory and prayer.

For your substance into the simple nobility of the lines that are repeated: "They do not grow old, as we who are left grow old. . . . At the going down of the sun and in the morning we shall remember them."

It turns your thoughts to other occasions of remembrance. Perhaps, in a distant city where formality seems more important than here, you have seen older men of quiet dignity baring their heads as they passed another Memorial, honoring the 1914-1918 generation. Perhaps, from a train window, you have seen poppies growing on the railway embankments lifting from the fields of Flanders—flowers that have become the emblems of remembrance.

Those Who Walked Together

As a civilian you pay respect to the fallen, recognizing the cost in lives too quickly ended, broken at the time of promise. Yet, if you have never known the close comradeship of shared personal triumph or disaster in war, if you have been spared the tragedy of losing loved ones in combat, you cannot enter into full communion with those who walked beside the men for whom the wreaths are laid.

You speak with younger men who have returned from battle. Not all will be present at the services tomorrow. Some prefer to remember friends in other ways, recalling them in times of enjoyment which those who have gone would have enjoyed. There is no lack of warmth in such memories, but a different understanding, a different link between them.

For them the solemnity of Remembrance Day means less than the frequent recollection, perhaps at games, of young men who played games well. They see their former friends gay in celebrating crowds, or quiet as they knew them on other occasions. To each is given the memories he cherishes.

The Ideals They Held

Yet there is a fitness to the outdoor Memorial Service that cannot be replaced. There once again the living may honor that spirit of sacrifice which, surpassing personal loss, shines in a world where free men count life itself not too high a price for their ideals.

There, in simple congregation, generations may join in devout tribute to that high principle Lincoln phrased at Gettysburg, taking increased devotion to that cause for which they gave the last full measure of devotion.

It is a time, tomorrow, for those who knew the men whose memories are honored to recall the fellowship they shared, and remembering, to refresh for themselves and those who were too young to know it the faith for which the sacrifice was made.

Tourist Hunt Draws Island Men to Parley

Victoria and Vancouver Island will be represented at the annual convention of the National Association of Tourist Organizations at San Diego, Nov. 16 to 19.

Major Cuthbert Holmes, chairman of the Publicity Bureau here, and George I. Warren, publicity commissioner, leave Tuesday to attend the gathering of North American tourist officials.

Over 1,000 delegates from all parts of the continent will attend the tourist conference which is being held on the Pacific coast for the first time.

Canada's top tourist promoter, Leo Dolan, chief of the Canadian Travel Bureau at Ottawa, will represent this country's tourist industry.

Mr. Warren has been named to the conference panel on state, regional and community travel promotion.

Mr. Warren has been named to the convention's International Travel Forum.

Among the major topics to be discussed at the four-day gathering will be a longer tourist season. This subject has been getting close study by tourist groups in the U.S. and Canada in the past year, Mr. Warren reports.

Strong efforts will also be made towards simpler customs regulations on the international border. This would help promote visitor traffic between the United States and Canada, tourist officials here feel.

RITA, ALY WORKING OUT SETTLEMENT

PARIS, Nov. 10 (AP)—Lawyers for Rita Hayworth and Prince Aly Khan met today to initial a property settlement between the estranged couple but said they had run into technical hitches.

At issue is how much money the prince is to put into an estate fund for Yasmine, their three-year-old daughter. The American film actress is asking $3,000,000—the same amount set up for each of Aly's two sons by his former marriage to Mrs. Joan Guinness, a socially prominent British matron.

The agreement will also state when the prince can visit Yasmine, whose custody remains with her mother.

World Honors Loved Dr. Chaim Weizmann

'Father of Israel' Dies at 77 Following Heart Seizures Sunday

REHOVOT, Israel, Nov. 10 (AP)—Dr. Chaim Weizmann, 77-year-old father of Israel, will be buried Tuesday near his home here in the promised land he helped build and led as its first president.

Messages of sympathy for the sorrowing young country poured in from world leaders, including President Truman, the Queen, and Secretary-General Trygve Lie of the United Nations, following Dr. Weizmann's death from a heart attack Sunday.

The president's mansion on the coastal plain 10 miles from Tel Aviv, was open today to families, some crying and some quietly chanting Hebrew prayers.

Special trains brought pilgrims to pay their last respects. Among the first to travel to Rehovot to express condolences to the president's wife, Mrs. Vera Weizmann, was acting president Joseph Sprinzak, speaker of the Israel Knesset (parliament). A leading member of the Social Democrat Labor Party (Mapai), he is a possible successor to the presidency.

Also mentioned as a possible nominee, when the Knesset meets within 30 days to pick a president, is Felix Rosen, former minister of justice.

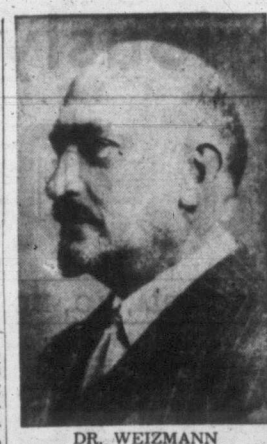

Official bulletins said Weizmann suffered a severe heart attack at 1:30 a.m. Sunday—and then another at 4:30 a.m. He died less than two hours later.

Weizmann had been out of bed only a few times and had received only close relatives since he became seriously ill about the time he was re-elected president of Israel in November, 1951. He had become nearly blind before then, but had carried on with his work.

The homeland for the wandering Jews that Weizmann nurtured and saw grow in the Middle-Eastern desert was a dream of his boyhood near Pinsk, in Russia. He studied in Russia and Germany, taught in European universities, among them the university of Manchester in Britain, where he became a naturalized citizen in 1918.

In Britain during the First World War, he discovered a way to produce synthetic acetone for explosives. This and other services that aided the Allies in the war were said to have helped bring about the Balfour Declaration of 1917, by which Foreign Secretary Arthur J. Balfour pledged his country's support to establishment of a national home for the Jewish people.

Dr. Weizmann spearheaded the drive for a Jewish nation as president of the World Zionist Organization. Soon after Israel became a reality in 1948, he was chosen president.

City Runners Take Cross-Country Hop

VANCOUVER, Nov. 10 (CP)—Victoria High School ran off with the Lonsdale Cup for junior cross-country competition Saturday with a total of 28 points in the North Vancouver invitation meet.

Peter Kirchner, Harold Robinson and Harry Stevens placed second, fourth and fifth, respectively, to give Victoria its win.

West Van High made second spot through the efforts of George Crombie, who placed first in the 2 1/2-mile run.

New Ouster Movement Against 'Red' Dean

LONDON, Nov. 10 (Reuters)—Reader Harris, a lay member of the Church of England assembly, will renew efforts this week to shame the "Red" Dean of Canterbury, Dr. Hewlett Johnson, into quitting his job.

A committee of the assembly, the high parliament of the church, already has refused to entertain Harris' resolution calling for the 78-year-old dean's resignation, but he will have another try Wednesday when the assembly meets here.

"I think that public opinion in the country would like an expression of opinion by the church assembly," Harris said. "It's a difficult problem, but I think the Church of England shouldn't be guilty of ostrichism. They should tackle the problem, if only for the sake of the harm that is being done in America."

The Dean's sympathies with the Communists have long annoyed most of his countrymen, particularly since he returned from a visit to China to say he believed Communist charges that the United Nations were using germ warfare.

Johnson can be relieved of his £2,000-a-year post only if he breaks the law.

WELCOME RAIN
SEATTLE, Nov. 10 (AP)—Light but general rains throughout Washington and Oregon today put the damper on forest fires which blackened nearly 15,000 acres in the two states during the week-end.

Why is breakfast so important?

A good breakfast does more than contribute to your general health. It helps you work better, feel more alert and be more efficient all morning. Many breakfast foods are important. But the real mainstay should always be a nourishing whole-grain cereal. First among these of course is Red River Cereal . . . a careful blend of cracked wheat, rye and whole flax (a mild regulator). It tastes delicious and makes a valuable contribution to your dietary needs. Include it often in your breakfast planning.

What is a good breakfast?

You can make dozens of different, attractive, balanced meals with the popular breakfast foods. Try to include orange or grapefruit juice, fresh fruit, a cooked whole-grain cereal, milk, jam or marmalade and egg or bacon.

Try these menus for example:

One whole orange. Serving of Red River Cereal with milk or cream. Whole wheat toast with butter or margarine and marmalade. Coffee or tea.

5 oz. canned grapefruit juice. Serving of Red River Cereal with cream or milk. Egg or crisp bacon with toast and butter or margarine. Glass of milk.

UNLIKELY — In Washington Democratic senators showed no signs today of trying to block the Republicans from taking over control of the United States Senate when the new Congress convenes January 3.

It appeared that, despite the almost even division between the two parties, a fight over senate organization is unlikely.

Senator Clyde Hoey (Dem.-N.C.) said he did not think there would be any disposition among the Democrats to try to keep the Republicans from leadership. Other Democrats expressed a similar view.

Barring deaths or vacancies from other causes, the Republicans will have 48 seats in the new senate, the Democrats 47. The other one is held by Senator Wayne Morse of Oregon, who declared himself an independent after bolting the Republican party to support Governor Adlai Stevenson.

DECISION — Edmonton city council will meet today to decide whether to declare Tuesday, November 11, a civic holiday.

City councillors will have to pass a special by-law authorizing the civic holiday, but it's expected Tuesday will be declared a holiday in commemoration of Canadians killed during the two world wars.

INJURED — A woman from Hope, B.C., was slightly injured today in a seven-car pile-up on highway 395 near Chewelah, Wash.

Police identified her as Mrs. H. L. Woods. They said she was treated for minor injuries.

Five persons were sent to hospital and several others slightly injured in the traffic tangle, which occurred when a north-bound motorist stopped on the right-of-way to wipe frost from his windshield.

A Spokane policeman was the only person to be injured seriously.

GRANT — A federal grant of $21,300 to aid in building and equipping the new 20-bed hospital under construction at Enderby, was announced today.

The federal department of health, Ottawa, also announced it would aid in buying dental equipment for the Vancouver

School for the Deaf and Blind, and technical equipment for the Provincial Home for the Aged at Vernon, B.C.

TRIBUTE — Canadian soldiers in Germany paid silent tribute Sunday to the Canadian dead of two world wars.

At five separate services, men of the 27th Brigade joined in the traditional forms of remembrance for the fallen. The services were conducted by chaplains at three locations.

RARE — In London a prayer book brought £3,000 at an auction today.

William Robinson, who specializes in collecting rare books, made the bid for the manuscript of the prayer book "Hours of the Blessed Virgin Mary," written in the early 16th century by an unknown scribe.

Hanover garrisons as well as in gold and colors with miniatures depicting scenes from the lives of Jesus Christ, the Virgin Mary and the Saints.

Noted Educator Dies in Ontario

CARLETON PLACE, Ont., Nov. 10 (CP)—Rev. John Henry Riddell, 89, identified with educational work in western Canada for more than 40 years, died here Sunday.

Dr. Riddell established Alberta College in Edmonton in 1903 and left after 14 years when the enrollment had expanded to 1,000 and the property was worth $500,000. He accepted the principalship of Wesley College in 1917 and gradually pulled the school out of wartime financial difficulties. He retired in 1938.

In 1918 his work on a minimum wage commission for the Manitoba government was the basis of much of the province's legislation on the subject.

Rightists Score In German Vote

Nazi, Fascist Forces Gain Ground in Three State Elections

FRANKFURT, Nov. 10 (AP) — Rightist and Fascist forces scored sharp gains and Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's middle-road Christian Democrat Party lost ground Sunday in local elections in three West German states.

In lower Saxony, British-zone birthplace of the outlawed Nazi-like Socialist Reich party, two former officials were named to public office.

Adenauer's chief opposition, the Socialists (Social Democrats), held their own and gained slightly in some areas.

The voting was for 96,000 local and district offices—mayors and city and district councilmen—in the British-occupied states of North Rhine Westphalia, Rhineland Palatinate and Lower Saxony.

Though issues were largely local, observers watched the results for indications of what lies in store for Adenauer's government in next summer's national elections.

Voting trends were the swing to the right, losses for the Christian Democrats and some gains by the Socialists.

Communists lost considerable ground everywhere.

Radical right-wingers had burst out the day before the elections with swastika-stamped leaflets asking the voters to boycott the polls and "patiently" await the return of Nazism.

The Socialists handily won the Hannover district parliament seat left vacant by the death of their chief, Kurt Schumacher. Their choice, Ernst Winter, polled 64,614 votes to 29,982 for Gottfried Schlaegel, who was backed by all three government parties.

Provisional figures showed the Free Democrats gained 102 seats in the Rhineland-Palatinate for a total of 252 seats. The Christian Democrats led with 645 seats, a loss of 66 seats. The Socialists gained 24 seats for a total of 547. The Communists lost 59 seats for a total of 26.

FORMER GENERAL ELECTED

Preliminary results from the states of North Rhine-Westphalia and Lower Saxony indicated the Communists lost there, too, while the Free Democrats scored further impressive gains.

The reorganized Free Democratic party, headed by Vice-Chancellor Franz Blecher, supports free enterprise, private property and centralized government. One of its leading members to gain a seat Sunday was former Panzer Gen. Hasso von Manteuffel, who commanded the armored forces in Germany's Ardennes counter-offensive.

Almost 75 per cent of the 15,000,000 Germans entitled to vote went to the polls. They walked past huge swastika-festooned billboards urging them: "Do not vote, but wait, we shall be back." The billboard campaign was conducted by the banned Socialist Reich party.

Allies Drive 1,300 Koreans Off Heights

SEOUL, Nov. 10 (AP)—Allied infantry in 11 hours of close-quarter fighting today drove 1,300 North Korean Communists off two strategic hills on Korea's eastern front.

The Reds attacked in waves Sunday night behind a curtain of 4,000 rounds of artillery and mortar fire. They captured the crest of Anchor Hill at 6 a.m. and smashed to the top of another hill to the south at 6.25.

The United Nations troops counter-attacked almost immediately. They stormed back to the top of the second hill in just 15 minutes.

The Reds fought with bitter determination from the top of Anchor, but the Allies reached the top at 8 a.m. and closed with the Reds.

Allied planes pounded the Reds with bombs and jellied gasoline.

The United States Eighth Army said the Anchor's crest was secured at 9.30 a.m.

Elsewhere little action was reported along the 155-mile-long ground front.

Q.C. Airlines Objects to I.W.A. Charge

Queen Charlotte Airlines Ltd. has taken exception to statements by Port Alberni I.W.A. officials that its service on the west coast is "irregular."

"Queen Charlotte Airlines would like to bring to the attention of the I.W.A. that during the period in question on which four consecutive days went by without air service, it was impossible to operate due to the extreme weather conditions prevailing on the west coast of the island," a company official said today.

He pointed out that company records, open to inspection, show that 92 per cent of all flights scheduled between June 1 and Sept. 30 were completed.

In addition, he said, the company operated 27 extra sections in the same period, or 50 per cent more than anticipated scheduled flights.

GIRL PIPERS PLEDGE NOT TO WED WHILE TOURING

NEW YORK, Nov. 10 (AP)—In 1939, the last time the Dagenham girl pipers of England toured Canada and the United States, they returned home minus 11 pipers, all of whom had married.

This year the pipers—all between 16 and 26 years old—decided to revisit North America. But their leaders cautiously required each of the 70 girls to give written assurance she would remain unwed until her return to England.

Sunday 10 of the 70 pipers arrived here on the liner George for the tour. The 10 were all who would make the tour under the no-wed condition.

LONDONERS CELEBRATE

Color, Pomp Highlight Lord Mayor's Procession

LONDON, Nov. 10 (CP)—Thousands of Londoners turned out today for one of the old town's traditionally spectacular roof-tops and traffic was in a tangle while pageantry dating back to the Middle Ages was unfolded.

The Lord Mayor, wearing his black tri-corne hat and scarlet robes, rode in the magnificent red-and-gold state coach drawn by six frisky horses.

The purpose of the procession was to give the new Lord Mayor an official opportunity to announce to the high court judges that he has been elected chief executive. A Conservative member of parliament for Worcester-shire, he is a wealthy director of several companies.

The city of London represents London within its ancient boundaries. Its head is traditionally the senior of London's 29 borough mayors and takes the title "Lord Mayor."

The first mayor was appointed by King John in 1191.

No mayor has ever exceeded the fame of Dick Whittington, the hero of the fairy story who came to London with his cat to make his fortune. Though the legend says he was "thrice mayor of London town," Whittington was, in fact, mayor four times, in 1397, 1398, 1406 and 1419.

Jet Explodes in Air Killing B.C. Pilot

VANCOUVER, Nov. 10 (CP)—First person to report the crash was John Christopherson, manager of an oyster packing plant at Mud Bay.

"I was sitting in my living room when I heard the explosion," he said.

"I rushed outside and ran over to the wreckage, but there was nothing I, or anyone else, could do."

"The wreckage was scattered in about a quarter-mile area over the flats and the pilot was dead."

A guard was posted at the scene of the wreckage, pending an investigation into the crash, and the R.C.A.F. said it could provide no more information at this time.

It was the first jet crash in B.C. in more than three years. Another reserve pilot was killed at that time when his jet crashed on a mountain near Vancouver.

Only known witnesses to the explosion were two duck hunters, on a mountain near Vancouver.

Mission to Korea

GENERAL EISENHOWER WILL soon reach Korea to face what seems to be a problem of baffling complexity. Actually it is quite simple. As Governor Stevenson says, the Communist aggression in Korea will continue or cease solely as Russia decides. It will be quite unfair to expect General Eisenhower, from Korea, to determine the policy of Russia in Moscow.

The only possible policy for the United States and the free world as a whole is equally simple. It is to resist aggression at its present local point and thus prevent it spreading.

Of this Mr. Acheson said a wise thing a few days ago in the United Nations Assembly: "The aggressor, having defied the United Nations and lost, having found himself pushed back behind his initial line of attack, now counts for victory upon those of faint heart who would grow weary of the struggle. . . . It is in Korea that our whole structure of collective security is meeting its supreme test. It will stand or fall upon what we do there."

The whole concept of the free peoples may also stand or fall by what they do there. If they retreat from Korea that country can be added to Ethiopia and Czechoslovakia as milestones on the road to general war.

It is all very well, as The London Economist remarks in a vivid analysis of the current world, to debate the long-term aspirations of humanity, to plan the Parliament of Man, to rear castles in the clouds. But if there is no foundation of peace all that inspiring superstructure of mere paper must fall. This sort of planning, The Economist adds, "makes it possible to plan in the most minute detail the layout of the new Jerusalem without having to grapple with the bothersome business of getting there."

The business of getting there assuredly will be bothersome, difficult and long, but we shall not even start on the road until we have prevented a third world war, which would destroy not only the chance of a new Jerusalem but probably civilization itself. And the only possible way of preventing such a conflagration is to extinguish the first blaze before it can spread.

That precisely, and nothing else, is what the United Nations are trying to do in the spot fire of Korea. They are not resisting Communism as a theory of government. They are not concerned with the internal affairs of Russia or China. They are united on the simple proposition that aggression, whatever its source, must be resisted and stamped out. If the free nations cannot remain united on that proposition they cannot unite on anything.

All this, as The Economist observes, is a very pedestrian idea but it is the key to everything and "there never was a time when it was more important for the nations that want peace to hold fast to that pedestrian idea." They failed to hold fast when aggression first came from Italy and then from Germany and they paid the price of failure in the Second World War. If they fail again in Korea they will ultimately pay an infinitely larger price in the third.

General Eisenhower knows that as well as any man. The hope of his Korean mission, perhaps a faint hope, is that he will find some method of ending the current stalemate in a local truce. The danger of his mission is that, by encouraging false hopes, or by resorting to an expansion of the local war in a desperate attempt to end it, he may divide the allies. The plane which carries him to Korea will carry also a heavy freight of responsibility.

Another Look at Alcan and Tweedsmuir

LANDS AND FORESTS MINISTER Robert E. Sommers finds himself in a comfortable position from which to criticize the agreement between British Columbia's Coalition administration and the Aluminum Company of Canada.

With Alcan now so heavily invested in B.C. that it cannot abandon the project, it is simple enough to declare the former government improvident in the terms it approved. Mr. Sommers and his colleagues are not bargaining with a great corporation for a development project of vast economic importance to the province. That bargain has already been made and in the over-all picture it was a good one.

Mr. Sommers nevertheless draws attention to a situation which has received persistent comment in these columns. The minister refers to "the tragedy that is happening at Ootsa Lake" and implies that a large section of Tweedsmuir Park is going to be irreparably marred. There is hope in his suggestion that the new government will send competent engineers to the site to try to estimate costs of clearing away timber before it is too late. And if he can support it, there is justification for the minister's criticism that the timber situation at the area to be flooded was not discussed with technical advisers of the forestry department before the agreement was signed.

That is water over the dam. The significant question still remaining is: What is the present government going to do to remedy the situation?

It is now history that British Columbia paid a price to acquire a great industry. Still to be written into the record is the manner in which the provincial authorities, under new leadership, will attempt to use and protect remaining assets—timber and scenery among them—which are threatened by the rising waters.

Mr. Sommers is entitled to express his criticism of the minister whom he succeeded. The public, on the other hand, will be more concerned with learning what he and his colleagues intend to do. Despatching competent engineers to the scene of the flooding is a good preliminary step. But it is only a step. The citizens of this province will note with interest what further progress is made.

According to Plan

WITH A PERFECTLY STRAIGHT face Premier Bennett announces that his Social Credit party will not coalesce with the Conservatives. Who ever supposed that it would? The Social Credit party is not planning to join but to destroy the Conservatives, not only in British Columbia but throughout the West.

This will not be done out of mere animus at least so far as Mr. Bennett is concerned. A lifelong Conservative, he must have a lingering affection for his old party, which he abandoned because it would not make him its leader. No, the destruction of the Conservative party is just a painful necessity if the Social Credit party is to hold office in Alberta and win a majority in B.C.

In Alberta the process of destruction is complete. In British Columbia it is proceeding satisfactorily. But Mr. Bennett had better watch his own ranks just the same. The Conservatives are flowing into them and may take over Social Credit. This would doubtless suit Mr. Bennett, the slightly disguised Conservative. And it would rescue him from his lunatic monetary fringe.

Everything, in fact, seems to be going according to plan.

Protection for Consumers

MR. T. D. MACDONALD, COMMERCE commissioner, whose report on investigations into alleged illegal price-fixing by members of a certain industry has been forwarded to the Minister of Justice and made public, has offered a suggestion to curb evils of that nature.

It is improper to discuss at this time the charges made by the commissioner against the industry. Judgment on the firms investigated can be passed properly only by the agency appointed for that task. It is not, on the other hand, improper to comment on Mr. MacDonald's suggestion.

He has proposed that an alleged combine, when found guilty of breaking the law, be stripped of the protection given to its members by existing tariffs. The recommendation should not end there.

Speaking for England

TRADITION LEADS PECULIAR significance to the start of a new building for Lloyd's. There is a peculiar magic in the name of the company, or syndicate of insurance men, that has become synonymous with security itself.

The fact that Queen Elizabeth, using the trowel her grandfather employed for a similar ceremony more than a quarter of a century ago, has laid the foundation stone of the new building emphasizes the significance of the institution. In the course of 264 years, Lloyd's has become as closely identified with Britain as the long-standing symbolism of the oak.

From its coffee house origin back in the 17th century to the day of its present expansion, one dominating principle has been followed—to make the security of Lloyd's impregnable.

Lloyd's, with its full and rich maritime history, moves ahead, and there is a rock-like solidity behind it that is emblematic of the national character—a character the Queen fittingly honors in a cornerstone-laying ceremony.

Chips

By DAVID BROCK

AN advertisement for an English mechanical pencil says "it propels, repels, expels." This sounds exactly like an old schoolmaster of mine. Maybe he didn't propel very much, but he certainly repelled us all right. . . . It was his hobby, you might say. Come to think of it, he did propel, too. He propelled many parents and pupils into other schools. And like the pencil, he was fully mechanical, though it was his hobby to pretend he was all but human.

PUBLIC RELATIONS

When, vulgarly, gets below a certain uncommon level, you can hardly call it vulgarly, surely. To be vulgar is to be common (in the bad sense, naturally, and not in the good sense of being human). Really deep, bad, thick, brown vulgarity, so thick you could stand a spoon up in it is not half so common as you might in your innocence suppose. And it is the rarity of this richness that makes some of us treasure it when we find it. Little minds are shocked by vulgarity (in others). Larger minds are bored by it, rather than shocked. But below a certain level it is neither shocking nor dull: it becomes as vivid and fascinating as a meeting with a dinosaur.

Last week I heard from an eye-witness about a house in a B.C. city. The city must remain nameless, and I must change the names of the owners, but the rest is exact. It is quite a house, from all accounts. There is wall-to-wall carpet in the bathroom . . . possibly this is renewed every week, since the owners are rich. The grand piano is caparisoned in a big chintz tent, for some reason that doesn't reveal itself immediately. But the best thing is the bar.

Behind and above the bar hangs a tremendous neon sign. It says Get Oiled With Esso. The names of the owners being Esther and Solomon. Es-so. Get it? Pretty cute, hey? (Their real names are something else, as I say, but are put together in this way to approximate the name of a petroleum brand.)

Well, sir, the whole thing is so cute, I can hardly stand it. By golly, when you get vulgarity concentrated as strong as this, you've got to be pretty strong yourself. And even then you had better think about it in small doses.

CUTE NAMES

The whole business of inventing names from the first syllables of real names can be rather distressing. You want to go easy on it. Just look what the Russians, Germans, and Japanese have done with the system. Gestapo, Gosplan, Mobo. (Mobo is Japanese for "modern boy." It's a bit too modern for me.) We're at fault ourselves with words made from initials, such as Nato, Unesco, etc. The heck with it. But in yacht basins and on the gates of houses we meet the scourge at its worst. Yacht after yacht gets named with harsh and meaningless syllables crudely chopped off the owners' own silly names. If Damon and Pythias had shared a yacht, they'd have called her the Pythos, which is at least a word, though a foolish one for a yacht. But if Ophelia had bought a yacht (after learning to swim and marrying the Lord Hamlet) she'd have called her wretched craft Opheliam, after herself, her brother Laertes, and her husband. And few of her friends would even guess that she was nuts.

Go to any yacht club, and shudder. You will find the Jolim, the Janorge, the Marjolin, the Hensal, the Villean, and a hundred others. Good luck to those poor little ships. . . . they'll need it. And bad luck to their wicked owners. They should reserve such names for unwanted kittens or for wheelbarrows or something equally trivial, and not for man's best friend, the yacht. (Wanted kittens, of course, are something else again. Sam'l Butler said that naming a kitten is a good test of genius. If this is true, it is unfortunate that cats breed a bit faster than geniuses.)

I have no yacht myself at present. . . . people keep forgetting to give me one. But I badly need one. In fact, I need two. I shall name the first one either FTOU or FITHONOU, which obviously means "Figure This One Out." And I'll name the other LHYPTTY, which stands for "Let's Hear You Pronounce This, Darn You." I shall then christen each with a Molotov cocktail, setting her on fire and sinking her, hooray. So they don't really need to be in very good condition, if you're hesitating about what sort to give me. You might even give me a third, which we'll name DABE-FORCH, meaning "David, Babe and Four Children." That's about as cute a name as you'll get in a whole summer's cruising.

But I see I must stop before I'm sick. Pass me the Mothersill's. Or the Mossil, as we call it at the yacht club.

CANADA'S 'NEW DEPTH'

Our expansion has touched almost every industry and every region of Canada. It has given new depth to the country—new depth in terms of industrial diversification and in terms of geography. It is particularly noteworthy that a number of the largest projects now under way are on the northern frontier of our country. It used to be said that everything that mattered in Canada lay within 100 miles of the American border and also that industrially speaking we were hewers of wood and drawers of water. If there were some truth in those statements in the past they are certainly not true today.

—Finch Minister Abbott in an address to the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, New York.

SIMPLE SIMIAN

Reference Mr. Avery's letter on the Darwinian theory. Whence those evolutionists who trumpet their simian ancestry visit the monkey house at the zoo which of their varieties do they acknowledge—the mighty gorilla, the ungainly orang-utan, the clever chimpanzee or the graceful gibbon?

Believers in the Bible's account of Creation lean trustfully on the impregnable rack of Genesis which says that man was made in the image of God. Nor have they any quarrel with the Psalmist who says that man was made "a little lower than the angels."

Despite our tragic abuse of this high estate we are still endowed with a soul, which the lower and separate creation of animals has not. Why make monkeys of ourselves?

TRIBUTE

The many friends and patients of Dr. Harold E. Ridewood will have learned of his death in England last Saturday with feelings of shock and of deep personal loss.

Tribute to his outstanding qualities as a physician and surgeon will be paid in the proper places by those who are qualified to do so.

I, as one who for many years has been his neighbor and his friend, wish by this letter to pay a humble tribute to his great qualities of kindness and human understanding which endeared him so to me, to my family, and to his many friends.

There are so many in and near Victoria to whom he was a friend, one to whom they turned when they needed help and encouragement with confidence that they would be both understood and helped.

He was indeed "one who loved his fellow men."

May the love of God bless and sustain his dear family in their bereavement. He has gone to his rest and whilst we mourn his passing and our loss, we are grateful that our lives were made richer by his being amongst us and that while he lived we were numbered among his friends.

'GREATEST HOAX'

I congratulate Mr. Avery on his exposure of the evolution theory; the greatest hoax covering the greatest area of the world's surface and gulling the greatest multitudes in the name of science is undoubtedly the theory that man evolved from an ape or some other form of animal life. The creation of man, as recorded in Genesis 1, 26, is an entirely distinct act to that stated in Genesis 1, 24, "Cattle and creeping thing and beast of the earth after his kind."

It is clear that proponents of the evolutionary theory do not believe what God says about his own workmanship. Of course if they prefer a pedigree of the monkey brand, that is their privilege, which shouldn't cause much envy. But since man was created in God's own image it is blasphemous to the nth degree to try and make a monkey out of our Creator.

CANADIAN ANGLE

In connection with the Rotary Club's recent variety show at the Royal Theatre, I am sorry that neither of our local reviewers mentioned that one in this group of professional American talent made some attempt to cater to a Canadian audience.

I doubt if "The Road to the Isles" and some of the other Old Country tunes played on the xylophone are a part of Professor El Cota's regular nightly repertoire, and to judge by the applause from the Victoria audience earlier in the week this departure was much appreciated.

Perhaps future performers from the U.S.A. would also try to make their programs in this country a little less 100 per cent American if some acknowledgment of any attempt in this direction were given in the press reviews.

'Impudent Neighbors'

Chicago Daily Tribune, "The World's Greatest Newspaper"

CANADIAN newspapers and radio commentators can hardly be blamed for taking an interest in the American election but they had no right to take sides, as many of them did. In general, as our correspondent, Eugene Griffin, has shown, they favored Gen. Eisenhower against Sen. Taft for the Republican nomination and then Mr. Stevenson against Gen. Eisenhower in the election.

It was particularly outrageous that Prof. Stuart Jamieson thought that it lay within his province, while speaking on the government-owned Canadian radio, to condemn the Republican campaign strategy. Another radio pundit, Max Freedman, characterized Gen. Eisenhower's proposals to save American lives in Korea as "cynical and shameful" although, if our army in Korea were no bigger proportionately than Canada's, 300,000 Americans would come home.

J. V. McAree, writing in the Toronto Globe and Mail, said Gen. Eisenhower's Korean program appealed to Americans because, with the exception of the Mexicans, the Iranians, and the Maltese, Americans are the most emotional people on earth.

And so on. All that need be said of these impudent neighbors, meddling in other people's affairs, is that their behavior is preposterous in the precise meaning of the word. The tail was trying to wag the dog.

The Timid Soul : : : : : BY H. T. WEBSTER

The Majority Spoke

By WALTER LIPPMANN
From Washington

IT IS at least interesting, and it may be important, that some eight months ago, just after the New Hampshire primaries, almost everyone would have said that Gen. Eisenhower could win the kind of victory which in fact he did win last Tuesday.

The New Hampshire primaries, which were held in March, were the first actual test of Eisenhower's political strength in relation to the two parties. The outcome was a remarkably accurate preview of what has actually happened. In fact it would almost seem as if what has happened since then—the drama of the conventions and the endless campaigning—had merely obscured, had not in fact affected appreciably, the outcome.

The New Hampshire primaries showed that Eisenhower could rally the whole potential Republican vote and that he was unmistakably the most popular Republican candidate. But the primaries showed also how deep and wide was the discontent and disaffection in the Democratic Party. Not only was President Truman defeated badly in that primary but, though he had the support of the machine, his vote in 1952 was less than 15 per cent of the 1948 vote.

BEFOGGED

Why then, did what was so clear in March become so unclear—so thoroughly befogged—until the returns came in on Tuesday evening? The fundamental popular vote will become obscured chiefly, I think, because in spite of his demonstrated strength, the General was not drafted and then nominated by acclamation as the man who would most surely be able to bring his party to power. He was forced to fight for the nomination, and he won it only by a narrow margin in a fiercely factional convention.

And then, having won the nomination, his leadership of the party was still so strongly contested, so little acknowledged, that during August and into September it was not certain at all that his party organization in many critical areas was actually trying to elect him.

From the Abilene speech early in June, just after he came home and had taken off his uniform, until at least the beginning of October, Eisenhower was engaged in a struggle for the leadership of the Republican Party. This struggle was altogether against his instincts, it was contrary to his original intentions, it was foreign to all his previous experience.

MADE LONG AGO

The returns suggest, though closer examination may disprove it, that the popular decision to elect Eisenhower and thereby to change over from the Democrats was made long ago, and was not materially affected by the political events since his return from Europe. The people drafted him even if the politicians did not.

It seems clear enough that Eisenhower has shown himself to be much stronger than his party, and that the people wanted him for President regardless of the factional disorder in his party. What he himself was never able to do convincingly during the campaign, the voters did for him on election day.

He had begun, I have been told, since mid-September to get the control of his own campaign into his own hands, and there was some, though not conclusive, public evidence of this in the closing weeks of the campaign.

But the mighty majority which the people have given him is inconclusive. He is the captive of no man and of no faction. He is free, as few men in so high an office have ever been, to be the servant of his own conscience. For his mandate from the people is one of the greatest given in modern times and it is beyond dispute.

Ups and Downs

By BRIAN TOBIN

"CRIME," said the Elevator Man, "don't pay, but grime do. That's what a fella in New York found out, anyway. It seems that some years ago he started up a bookie joint in a back room, and he ran a little laundry out in front to cover it up. He hired an aged Chinese gentleman to iron in the shop all day. The old fellow ironed so well and so much that pretty soon the laundry business got too big for the quarters. And the fella had to cut down on his bookie business to make more room for the washing and ironing. There's a success story if there ever was one. Unfortunately, even with a gold mine like that on his front doorstep the fella guessed wrong. He eventually stuck with the bookie business instead of the laundry. He took his clients to the cleaners instead of them coming to him. And today, according to a news item, he's serving 12 years in prison for gambling. Going down!

"America," said the Elevator Man, "has always been the land of hope to thousands of Europeans. Streets paved with gold, opportunity knocking itself out to help you, new frontiers. Go West young man, and all that sort of thing. But if all doesn't mean much if you choose the wrong things. If you run for the shiny brass and overlook the gold, if you fill your ears with bad advice and don't hear opportunity, if you bring old evils to the new frontiers, if you go west but leave your moral code at home, then the brave new world isn't going to be much use to you. You might as well have stood in aid centre. Lower main!

"Of course," said the Elevator Man, "for some the price of opportunity is too much. Work—the necessary catalyst for the gold, the opportunity, the frontier, the west and all the other ingredients—is something they're not willing to supply. They set their price too high, like Si, the village idiot, who was offered a job by a farmer. 'What'll ye pay?' asked Si. 'I'll pay what you're worth,' says the farmer. Si thought it over, and it wasn't good enough. Says he, 'I'll be darned if I'll work for that!'"

SOCRED-STILL CLAIMS CHARGE ELECTION ACCOUNT INCORRECT

Defeated candidate, Mrs. Lydia Arsena, today said her charge that an account of Social Credit campaign expenses in Victoria was incorrect has been justified by the auditor's report.

"At the annual meeting last month I charged that the sum of $743.29 for postage was ridiculously high and was not correct," she said.

"The auditor's statement proved I was right, for their statement now lists only $355.29 for postage. I therefore feel that notwithstanding Secretary-Treasurer Mrs. Cecily Brown's statement, the auditor's report clearly shows that my objection was well taken," said Mrs. Arsena.

Mrs. Brown reported last week that the statement of campaign expenses submitted by herself had been certified as correct.

Dr. Painless Parker Dies in California

Introduced Showmanship to Dentistry With Great Success; Once With Medicine Show

Dr. Painless Parker, who found Victoria too much for him and his "noble tooth-plumbing profession," died in San Francisco Saturday at 80 years of age.

Dr. Parker, who had his name legally changed in 1915 from Edgar Randolph to "Painless," made millions in dentistry but lost most of his fortune in other ventures.

A native of New Brunswick, Parker started out on a theological career but he gave it up to ship to sea for a year or two and then studied for three years at the New York College of Dentistry and the Philadelphia Dental College.

He returned home but made only 75 cents from June to September when he decided to mix showmanship with dentistry. Dr. Parker hired a brightly-painted wagon and a cornet. He offered $5 to any one who suffered any pain when he extracted a tooth.

Detractors said the extractor blew so vigorously into his cornet while pulling teeth one-handed that nobody could hear the cries of his customer. The dental profession disapproved, however, and Dr. Parker left for greener fields.

WAS IN ALBERTA
He tried his medicine-show tactics in Maine, Quebec and Michigan and also in Alberta where he tried his skill on an aged Blackfoot chief. In 1893 he tried Victoria but the "ethicals," as Dr. Parker termed them, were too much for him and he left British Columbia for Alaska.

Returning the following year to Victoria, he struck up a temporary partnership with William True, who was peddling Ponce de Leon fountain of water at $1 the bottle. They did a good business and in 1894 Dr. Parker assembled a lively show and made HOBOKEN, N.J., Nov. 10 (AP)—Al Martino, idol of bobby-soxers for his record "Here I Am," is in a Hoboken Hospital today after being missing for five days.

Ceres said he found Martino in Manchester, N.H., Saturday, in a dazed condition.

Ceres said Martino disappeared after completing the first night of a singing engagement at a Boston night club. Martino and nightclub owner Stanley Blin-strub agreed to terminate a $2,500-a-week contract "by mutual consent," Ceres added.

Ceres said Martino has complained of not feeling well ever since he was involved in an automobile accident a month ago.

Quakers in League Lead as Cougars Tie Canucks

BY BILL WALKER

Secret weapons are likely to be found anywhere in the present era of atomic explosions, but hardly at hockey games.

Hardly, that is, until you see Victoria Cougars' new "box" formation.

The "box" as employed by the Cougars to perfection Saturday night in a 1-1 tie with Vancouver Canucks, is really nothing new, only here.

It's a defensive manoeuvre designed to prevent the opposition from scoring goals while the Cougars are short-handed due to penalties.

And so, the Cougars aren't going to move out of that "box" regardless of the taunts of the crowd and the efforts of the opposition. That's for sure.

found themselves in a position to use such a device late in Saturday's game as successive penalties left the club at a manpower disadvantage for the final two and one-quarter minutes.

And so the "box" was formed. While the crowd hooted and yelled and the Canucks played with the puck in the corner, on the blue line and in the other corner, the "box" held.

"Let 'em yell," said coach Ed Dorohoy, refusing to divulge the details of the formation. "Vancouver didn't score, did they?"

And so, the Cougars aren't going to move out of that "box" regardless of the taunts of the crowd and the efforts of the opposition. That's for sure.

BOB GOODACRE
... newest Cougar.

Just as it's certain that Saturday's tie against the Canucks saw the Cougars snap back into something resembling the club they were at the start of the present W.H.L. campaign.

The only Vancouver goal was a deflected shot by Ed Leier in the second period which skidded past Jerry Côté after hitting Ernie Roche's skate.

Reg Abbott got the equalizer for the Cougars, deftly picking up a loose puck from a scramble of players in front of the Vancouver cage and banging it into the corner past Emil Francis.

Ed Mazur and Ivan Irwin

had the best chances to break the stalemate, Mazur hitting the post and Irwin, on a break-away after stepping out of the penalty box, going in alone on Francis, only to shoot into the goalie's pads.

No line-up changes are contemplated by Dorohoy for Tuesday night as the Cougars continue their heavy activities of the past few days, meeting Calgary Stampeders at the Memorial Arena at 8:30.

And a rough role it could be for the Cats.

Nobody but Saskatoon has managed to beat the Cougars this year, the Quakers winning five of six decisions, between the two clubs.

Saturday night, the Stamps took Edmonton Flyers to the corral for the second straight night, winning 3-1. It was Calgary's seventh victory.

JACK KIRK
... second newest Cougar.

Meanwhile, the Quakers moved into undisputed possession of first place by edging New Westminster Royals, 4-3, on Neil Strain's goal 22 seconds from full time.

Quakers lead the Canucks by one point.

Coach Doug Bentley played only three minutes in the Quaker victory, but during that short space of time he scored one goal, helped kill off two penalties and provided the pass that Strain converted into the winning goal.

Ken Ulliot, the Royals' star centre, was seriously injured when boarded heavily by Murray Parker. Ulliot is believed to have suffered a broken collar bone and may be lost to the Royals for the season.

In other week-end games, Tacoma Rockets and the Royals took turns blanking Seattle Bombers.

The Rockets handed the Bombers the first coast of whitewash Saturday with a 4-0 victory at Tacoma.

The Royals applied the second coast Sunday with a 5-0 painting to rebound from straight defeats at the hands of Vancouver and Saskatoon, Friday and Saturday.

Wingy Johnston scored two goals in Tacoma's win. Gordy Hays, who had a pair for the Royals Sunday, Max McNab, Jerry Cabana and Gordon Fashway got the others.

Tide Coach Confident Of McKechnie Cup Win

THUNDERBIRDS HERE FOR EXHIBITION PUCK MATCH

It will be "Get Acquainted Night" for Victoria's and Vancouver's respective Commercial Hockey Leagues tonight.

In the first intercity games of the season between the two leagues, Victoria Merchants will take on University of British Columbia Thunderbirds at Memorial Arena, while Individual Cleaners are playing Vancouver Pilseners at Kerrisdale Arena.

The games will count in the standings of both leagues.

Tonight's card has Army and Navy clashing at 7:30, with the Merchant-U.B.C. game following at 9. Thunderbirds are coached by Frank Fredericksen, who was a member of the Stanley Cup champion Victoria Cougars in 1925.

City Reps To Meet North-Wests

"Well if our first game played together is any indication, we have the talent to mold into a good team."

So commented Derek Hyde-Lay, coach of the Crimson Tide ruggers, referring to Saturday's contest between the Probables and Possibles at Macdonald Park and Tuesday's Remembrance Day match against Vancouver North-Wests in the opening round of the McKechnie Cup series.

The Probables waged an uphill battle to nose out their rivals 15-12 in a close game that saw little difference between teams but a decided difference between players.

The selection committee switched team members freely in their efforts to find the best combination for Tuesday's vital opener which promises to be a battle between Tide's three-line, the speediest seen here in years, and North-West's forwards, probably the heaviest in the province.

At the completion of the practice game the committee announced that Denis Stead would be scrum-half for a speedy line made up of tricky Ray Colton at stand-off, sprinters Johnny Johnson and Gary Pynn as centres, and Gordy Pynn and Dave McKenzie as their flanking wing men.

Pete Scott will fill the fullback duties.

Ed Bourke will provide the hooking while ball hawkers Paul Beck and Jim Mills will be at their regular back positions.

The rest of the all-star forwards are Colin Blythe, Pete Fowles, Ted Martin, Harry Turner and Ian Young. Jack Shields is team spare.

Coach Hyde-Lay will be ready to fill in on the three-line if Gary Pynn's recurrent leg injury, which forced him to leave Saturday's game midway through the second half prevents him from playing.

The selection committee stuck closely by its original choices for the rep side despite sterling performances by two players on the Possibles.

Hook Dick McIntosh clearly outplayed Bourke as he continually got the ball back even though supposedly backed up by the weaker scrum. Scrum-half Gary Webster, who starred with last year's Tide, was literally all over the field, covered his position exceedingly well.

Probable-Beck Yeaman, Johnson, Henderson, Gary Pynn, Gordy Pynn, Colton, Shields, McKenzie, Young, Martin, Scott, Blythe, Mill, Bourke.

Possible-Blythe, McKenzie, Giddis, Anderson, Bridge, Hyde-Lay, Webster, Macintosh, Turner, Bayne, Fowles, Shields, Harrison, Barry.

Coach Hyde-Lay will be ready to fill in on the three-line if Gary Pynn's recurrent leg injury, which forced him to leave Saturday's game midway through the second half prevents him from playing.

The selection committee stuck closely by its original choices for the rep side despite sterling performances by two players on the Possibles.

Hook Dick McIntosh clearly outplayed Bourke as he continually got the ball back even though supposedly backed up by the weaker scrum. Scrum-half Gary Webster, who starred with last year's Tide, was literally all over the field, covered his position exceedingly well.

Probable-Beck Yeaman, Johnson, Henderson, Gary Pynn, Gordy Pynn, Colton, Shields, McKenzie, Young, Martin, Scott, Blythe, Mill, Bourke.

Possible-Blythe, McKenzie, Giddis, Anderson, Bridge, Hyde-Lay, Webster, Macintosh, Turner, Bayne, Fowles, Shields, Harrison, Barry.

Eddie in Appreciative Mood

Victoria Cougars scored only one goal Saturday night but it was enough to give the club a 1-1 tie with Vancouver Canucks and release them from their Western Hockey League cellar bond with Edmonton Flyers. Reg Abbott was hushed by Cougar coach Ed Dorohoy for his scoring effort, his sixth goal of the season. Cougars meet Calgary at Memorial Arena Tuesday night.

Scottish to Protest Esquimalt's First Win

A revamped Esquimalt squad won its first Victoria and District Soccer League game of the season Saturday, defeating Canadian Scottish, 4-3, but the Dockyarders may lose it on the committee-room table.

A disputed goal by Esquimalt is the cause of the protest. Scottish club officials are making the goal to stand, giving Esquimalt a 1-0 lead.

Scottish scored two quick goals early in the second half through Jeff Wilkinson, the half being deflected into the net by Esquimalt fullback Glep Underwood and Jim Caldwell.

Within five minutes of the previous shot having been blocked by a Scottish back, regressed his decision and allowed the goal to stand, giving Esquimalt a 1-0 lead.

Hawks Suffer Double Loss; Blues Beaten

They probably had a real old shindig around Montreal over the week-end. The Forum at least rocked with the whoop-de-do of more than 14,000 wildly-cheering customers.

Maurice (Rocket) Richard sent the place rocking with his record-breaking 35th National Hockey League goal, veteran centre Elmer Lach ran up his 20th. Canadiens whipped Chicago Black Hawks 6-4 and the two points sent them into the top spot where they remain today.

What else would a hockey-crazy city need as an excuse for a bust-up?

The second-place Toronto Maple Leafs also had cause for some quiet celebrating as they matched goal for goal with Detroit Red Wings Saturday and settled for a 3-3 tie. The Wings went on to New York Sunday and whipped the cellar-dwelling Rangers 3-1 to post their first victory in four games.

And the Hawks finished off the five-game N.H.L. week-end with a 4-1 Sunday loss to the Bruins at Boston. The defeat left the early season leaders in third place, two behind Canadiens, one in arrears of the Leafs and only two up on the Wings.

George Gee, Fred Glover, Jim McFadden and Al Dewbury looked after the Chicago scoring.

Max Bentley and his wings—George Armstrong and Gordie Hannigan—got the Toronto goals while Red Kelly, Johnny Wilson and Alex Delvecchio were the Detroit marksmen.

ALBERNI IN BITTER WIN

Port Curse Too Much for Kins

By DENNY BOYD

PORT ALBERNI—The Curse of Canal-Town held true to its stubborn pattern here Saturday night as Busher Jackson's Victoria Kins were unable to pin down the elusive victory formula.

Alberni Athletics maintained their home-town jinx over the Victoria squad by carving out a bitterly-contested 52-45 decision in the second senior A basketball meeting of the two clubs.

Kins, still dew-eyed from their upset victory over Vancouver Clover Leafs one week ago, played superlative basketball in the first half but suffered defensive lapses in the second half and, in addition, failed to hit an effective percentage of their shots.

Fired up by the heady floor generalship of playing coach Harry Kermode and the deadly shooting of skinny Joe Buchanan in the bucket, Alberni took a three-point lead at half-time, faltered momentarily but recovered in time to hold off the Kins.

In spite of the loss, Jackson was enthusiastic over the improved floor play of his club. The speedy Kins had Alberni baffled at times with a fast-break attack that featured deadly pin-point passing and a minimum of dribbling.

Particularly pleasing was the polish shown by three of the youngest members of the club, Bill Bamford, Walt Aceman and Gerry Parker.

Fleming Mackell, aggressive Boston centre, scored three goals to lead Bruins to their victory over the Hawks. Jack McIntyre netted the final midway through the last session.

Chicago coach Sid Abel accounted for the Hawks' lone tally.

Wing trio picked up the points. Rookie Lou Jankowski, veteran Ted Lindsay and sophomore Glen Skov scored for the Wings while Ed Kullman notched Rangers' lone goal.

League action now is concluded until Dec. 6 while the McGavin Cup series holds interest.

Adanacs Take Series Opener

Playing their first game under their new name, Adanacs (New Legion) eked out a slim 2-1 victory over Heaneys Sunday in the first game of the McGavin Cup series for the injured players' fund.

Heaneys appeared to carry the play but Adanacs had the polish to finish off their attacks and their strong defense turned back a strong second-half attack by Heaneys.

The first 40 minutes of the game was played in rapid, end-to-end fashion, both goals being having narrow escapes. Frank Grealey put Heaneys into a temporary lead five minutes before the half when he scored from his inside left spot.

Adanacs evened the score at 24 minutes of the second half when Alex McCormack rushed up from right half to head in a pass.

ANDERSON NETS WINNER

Andy Anderson cut loose with a low ground shot four minutes later, goalie Gordon Harvey missing the shot although it appeared he had it well covered. The ball scooted in just under his finger-tips.

In the last 10 minutes Heaneys had six corner kicks in Adanacs territory but were unable to bypass the defense to score.

LACROSSE STAR DIES

VANCOUVER, Nov. 10 (CP)—Robert Lester Dickinson, 61, early-day star of coast lacrosse, died Thursday at his home here.

He is survived by his widow, two sons, Bill and Eric, who starred with famous Salmon-Bellies teams, and a daughter, Mrs. A. H. Jones of Vancouver.

Bays Score Third Straight Rugger Win

J.B.A.A. took over undisputed possession of first place in the second division of the Rugby Union League Saturday when they downed a powerful University School fifteen 9-6 for their third straight victory.

Victoria College moved into a second-place deadlock with University School and the Shawinigan Lake School when edging the winless Wanderer-Crusader combination 5-3.

On the lower field at Macdonald Park University School not only lost the game, but they also lost the services of speedy John Moffat for an indefinite period when he was carried off the field with a fractured ankle.

University School took a 6-3 half-time lead but a second-half try by Gordon Inglis knotted the count and John Skillings, who had already made good on one penalty kick, won the game with a drop kick field goal from 20 yards out.

College held a 5-0 half-time lead in their contest on the strength of a try and conversion by Hal Gregg.

Wanderers-Crusaders retaliated with a penalty kick by Norman Dickson.

Former Diamond Star Killed in Fall
BOSTON, Nov. 10 (AP)—Eugene J. O'Connor, 80, one-time major league baseball catcher and first sports editor of the Boston American, was killed Saturday when he fell from a third floor window in his lodging house.

O'Connor, who closed his baseball career with St. Louis Browns was honored by the baseball hall of fame at Cooperstown, N.Y., in 1951, and donated to the museum a bat used by Napoleon Lajoie.

Former Royals' Soccer Star Plunges to Death

VANCOUVER, Nov. 10 (CP)—One of Canada's all-time soccer greats, 61-year-old Dickie Stobart of New Westminster, B.C., plunged to his death from the Lions Gate Bridge here Sunday, police reported.

Body of the small, wiry former athlete, assistant coach with St. Andrews when they won the Canadian soccer title in 1947, was found in the trees below Stanley Park's Prospect Point.

Police said Stobart plunged some 200 feet from the south end of the bridge, which spans the entrance to Vancouver harbor.

Vic Sortwell, secretary of the New Westminster Royals soccer club, called him "Canada's most versatile player of all-time. He could play any position except goal," Sortwell said, "and play them all exceptionally well."

Members of Royals will wear black armbands when they play North Shore United Tuesday in a Pacific Coast Soccer League game here.

WINNIPEG, Nov. 10 (CP)—The "Comeback Kids" from Edmonton have done it again.

Four-to-one underdogs, a sharp Edmonton Eskimos club upset the dopesters Saturday afternoon by walloping Winnipeg Blue Bombers 18-12 in the second game of their best-of-three western football final before a stunned partisan crowd of 9,600 at Osborne Stadium.

And Coach Frank Filchock of the Esks is predicting a victory for his club in the deciding game here at 2 p.m. Tuesday. He also said Esks will win the Grey Cup at Toronto Nov. 23.

Bombers, favored on the strength of an impressive 28-12 win in the first game, crumbled as the determined Esks came up with an amazing reversal of form.

The Eskimos' performance was similar to the comeback which lifted them into the western final when they overcame a 19-point deficit to whip Calgary Stampeders 42-38 in a two-game, total-point semifinal.

Import tackle Wilbur (Bill) Snyder, formerly with the University of Utah and Los Angeles Rams, was Saturday's scoring hero, with 13 points on a touchdown, two field goals and two converts.

Fullback Lorne Benson, rookie award winner and a graduate of Winnipeg junior ranks, plunged for one Bomber touchdown. End Keith Pearce, also a local, scored the other on a pass from quarter Jack Jacobs, who converted both.

LINE PLAY PREDOMINATES
Coach George Trafton of Bombers, who came up with "no comment and no pictures," following the defeat Saturday, probably will concentrate on how to stop the Edmonton line, which played a major part in Esks victory.

Taking nothing away from quarterback Claude Arnold, the former Oklahoman, who had Bombers dizzy with his variety of plays, it was the Esks line, led by import ends Rollin Prather and Frankie Anderson, which stopped the vaunted Winnipeg attacks.

Team captain Prather, from Kansas State and Anderson, a teammate of Arnold's at Oklahoma, gave Jacobs a rough time, besides being on the receiving end of several Arnold passes.

Eskimos scored first with King plunging over from 11 yards out on a direct snap after Arnold had passed Edmonton downfield.

Snyder converted. Bombers evened the count at 6-6 after Ford made his 66-yard run from his own 32 to the Esks' two. Benson went over after three successive plunges. Jacobs converted.

PEGS LEAD
Winnipeg took its only lead, a 12-6 margin, when Jacobs hit Pearce on a 42-yard, pass-and-run play and Indian Jack converted. However, Edmonton got that back before the half ended when Arnold passed over the Bomber goal line to Snyder.

Snyder's two field goals, one in each of the last two quarters, provided Esks with their winning margin, as the Edmonton line held Bombers scoreless.

comes time to talk about 1953 contracts, Argonauts took things easy with a playoff berth already assured but they would have been forced to the heights to match the Als last 1952 appearance.

Meanwhile, Sarnia Imperials took a big stride for a place in the eastern Canada playoffs when they whipped Toronto Balmy Beach 41-12 in the first game of their home-and-home total-points Ontario Rugby Football Union finals at Toronto on Sunday. The second game will be played at Sarnia next Saturday.

McGill Redmen, out of the senior intercollegiate running, defeated University of Toronto Blues 17-14 at Montreal Saturday. The loss left Varsity tied for the leadership with the idle university of Western Ontario Mustangs.

Vets Blank Sidney Booters

Army, Navy and Air Force Vets' 10-0 trouncing of Sidney Teen Town in a first division match took Sunday's minor soccer spotlight.

McGhee notched four goals for the powerful Vets while Nicholson, Boston, Garrett, McBay, Price and Crowe added single goals.

The other first division match saw Eagles trounce Harris Cycles, 11-1. Sillars and Jones both scored hat tricks for the clubmen with Peterson and Stonehouse each netting two. Willis scored the other marker while Don Grass ruined Eagles' shutout.

HILLTOPS GAIN FINAL
SASKATOON, Nov. 10 (CP)—Saskatoon Hilltops Saturday rolled into Western Canada Junior football final with a 17-6 victory over Winnipeg Weston Wildcats on snow-covered Griffiths Stadium before a shivering crowd of about 3,000 fans.

Eagles edged Delta Electric 2-1, in a second division contest. Combines whipped Tillicums, 6-1, in a junior contest with Bevins and Burley notching two goals each for the winners while Massey and Rimmer added singletons. Ian Holroyd scored Tillicums' goal on a penalty shot.

Punjab United scored their first victory of the season by downing Victoria College, 4-3, in an exhibition junior match. Abtar Singh scored twice for United while Sohan Singh and Surjeet Singh added one each.

Eagles blanked St. Louis College, 7-0, Saturday to move into a first-place tie with Black and White Taxi in the fourth division.

Stewart Walker scored a hat-trick for the winners while Barry Loghean, Bill Jones, Gordon Rabey and Ron Pederson all notched singletons.

Shepherd's Dairy whipped Heangeys, 5-1, in a fifth-division game. The game marked the first appearance of the Cartagemen, a recently organized team from Esquimalt.

Bill Heaney, who has a team in the senior league, agreed to sponsor the dockyarders.

In the third division, Combine Pee Wees and Eagles battled to a scoreless draw at Central Park.

Third division league leaders, Mic Macs, defeated Black and White Taxi of the fourth division, 3-1, in an exhibition match at a recently organized team from Victoria High School.

Buttons Again Change Hands

The senior city golf buttons have their third new owner in three weeks today as a result of Sunday's match at Gorge Vale.

Joe Pryke and Jack Clark of Gorge defeated holders Bill McColl and Vic Painter of Colwood 2 and 1 to annex the buttons.

Feature of the match was a torrid, three-under par 69 fired by Pryke, George Vale pro. Winners had a best ball of 67, losers best being 69.

Pryke and Clark will make their first defence next Sunday against clubmates Bob Fleming and Hugh Morrison at Uplands.

In the junior button match Don and Mel Carlow of Gorge beat Bob Hunt and S. Williams of Uplands 3 and 2 to win the button.

Notre Dame Scores Stunning Upset Over Oklahoma; Huskies Trip Bears

NEW YORK, Nov. 10 (AP)—Saturday was the kind of day United States College football coaches dream about in their nightmares. There were at least four upsets of major proportions led by Notre Dame's stunning 27-21 triumph over Oklahoma.

In addition, Nebraska knocked Kansas out of the Big Seven race, 14-13; Navy clubbed the Southern Conference powerhouse, Duke, 16-6, and Syracuse beat Penn State 25-7. Purdue did not gain in its quest for the Big Ten title by being tied 14-14 by Minnesota.

Michigan State, the No. 1 team in the weekly Associated Press poll, rushed past Indiana 41-14. Second-ranked Maryland did not play, and Georgia Tech, in a warmup for its appearance in the Sugar Bowl New Year's day, trounced Army 45-6. Tennessee, No. 8, whipped Louisiana State, 22-3.

U.C.L.A. and Southern California, the two muscle men of the west, continued to roll along at the expense of weak Pacific Coast Conference foes. The Uclans dumped Oregon State 57-0 and the Trojans polished off Stanford 54-7. The two winners meet Nov. 22 in what probably will be the game of the year on the west coast. The conference crown and a bid to the Rose Bowl will be at stake.

Washington defeated California 22-7.

The big stunner was Notre Dame's win over Oklahoma. The Irish three times were forced to overcome deficits before unleashing a mighty 20-point second half.

Scots Help Marines Celebrate Birthday

SOMEWHERE IN KOREA, Nov. 10 (AP)—The pipe band of the Scots Black Watch marched calmly in review today for the United States Marines' 177th birthday while Chinese flak chased Allied planes buzzing overhead.

At the end, the marines cheered by numbers, hip-hip hooray. Then they broke into applause American fashion, complete with foot stomping, hand-clapping and whistles.

Drummer George Dodds of Edinburgh danced a couple of Highland flings to the pipes of Cpl. Joel McNie of Selkirk.

Since it resembled no species of waltz, fox-trot or jitterbug the marines were a little puzzled. So were the 2000 or so Koreans who watched in amazement.

The parade ground was bulldozed from the side of a hill within easy shooting range of the Chinese.

The Scots came over at the invitation of the 1st Battalion, Seventh Marine Regiment.

The pipers wore the Royal Stuart tartan while the drummers paraded in the Watch's traditional dark green tartans, the same they've worn since they were formed to patrol the Highlands in 1715.

After the parade, the Scots and marines had a spot of beer together.

FLOOD OF DONATIONS PROVIDES HELP FOR TRAGEDY-STRICKEN

An Indian family, two of whose small children were burned to death Oct. 28 when their home was destroyed, will get surplus clothing and furniture donated by Victorians for other unfortunate.

Originally, the drive for necessities was launched here by Sam de Walle, a Dutch immigrant, on behalf of a fellow-countryman and his family of nine, left destitute by fire at Port Alberni.

Mr. de Walle said that after the Gerrit Van Der Breek family had been provided for there was still enough to help Mr. and Mrs. Edward Thomas on the East Saanich Indian Reservation.

Japan's Boy Prince Crowned Heir Apparent

TOKYO, Nov. 10 (AP)—A young man who never knew what it was to be an ordinary boy today was crowned heir apparent to the world's oldest continuous throne.

Prince Akihito, now 18, was born just two years after Japan moved into Manchuria. Japan was already in the grip of sword-rattling militarists. He knew the Allied raids that razed Tokyo. He grew to manhood under the Allied occupation. He became the first imperial prince to have western tutors.

Today, a confusing and stilted youth behind him, he officially became a man—but looked very much like a freshly-scrubbed schoolboy.

A short, 15-minute ceremony in the hushed halls of his father's palace was crammed with all the pomp and ceremony of the Orient.

Emperor Hirohito and his Empress, austere and solemn, looked on as their eldest son was given the crown of black lacquer. It was the first time in the 12-century history of the ceremony that foreigners were permitted to witness the investiture. They were there from all the world's major governments, except Russia.

The only foreign military man present was Gen. Mark Clark, United States commander in the Far East and symbol of the occupation the Japanese would like to forget.

and feel better FAST!

He found and effective advice about colds.

No matter how you try to stop or shorten a cold, the first thing to do—before you do anything else—is to take Aspirin.

You should do this because a cold is almost invariably accompanied by muscular aches and pains—and a headache, feverish feeling. And for your own good, you need a medication that will relieve these distressing symptoms—relieve them quickly.

One reason Aspirin tablets bring this relief is that they're ready to go to work with amazing speed... actually start disintegrating almost instantly.

So don't experiment with a cold. Use Aspirin. And for sore throats due to colds, gargle 3 times daily with 3 Aspirin tablets dissolved in ¼ of a glass of water.

"All my life I've wanted to own a Buick"

General Motors Value

Illustrated—Buick Super 2-Door Riviera

It seems that owning a Buick is something that a lot of folks dream about, plan for, and finally do.

We say that because, so many times, they say so in words like those above.

Those words make us happy, of course—happy to know we sell a car which means so much to those who own it.

But they make us feel a bit sad as well—sad to realize all the years of fun such folks have been missing for no good reason at all.

For the fact is this: If you can afford any new car, you can afford a Buick.

You can afford the thrill of bossing around that big Fireball 8 Engine that purrs forth a mighty flow of power.

You can afford the gas bills—as any owner of a 1952 Buick will tell you—because that high-compression, valve-in-head marvel gets a lot of miles from a gallon of fuel.

You can afford the extra luxury of a real million dollar ride—the silken smoothness of Dynaflo Drive®—the extra room and comfort and style that have made the name Buick synonymous with motoring at its very finest.

So if you want to own a Buick—there's just one thing to do: Come in—pick the one of your choice—and let us show you how close the figure that goes on the bill, of sale comes to what you'd pay elsewhere.

As we've said before, your first car can be a Buick. Why not take the Big Step now?

Equipment, accessories, trim and models are subject to change without notice. *Dynaflo Drive and Wheel Cams standard on Roadmaster, optional at extra cost on other Series. Power Steering now available on Super as well as Roadmaster—optional at extra cost.

OPERATOR! OPERATOR!
I'VE BEEN CUT OFF!—One of the dreary incidents that are the plague of newspapermen is when they are summarily cut off in the middle of a story after it has left their hands. This happened to yours truly in his Saturday column without so much as a "so sorry" or an explanation from the gremlins or hobgoblins responsible.

It looked so downright ridiculous. I was bang slang in the middle of an explanation of "cinemascope," the latest device of screen which adds a third dimension to moving pictures and leading up to congratulating Mr. Bert Nixon, manager of the Fox Theatre about whom the column was about when "bingo!" Just like that, the column ended with rhyme or reason.

However, I can take a hint. Therefore, without further ado, congratulation on your new screen, Mr. Nixon. I think it has added much to your projections. What is more you deserve a double accolade for the manner in which you actually contrived the curved screen yourself, building it up by experiment by trial and error.

This is the type of enterprise badly needed in the movie business.

ness at large. For if the industry doesn't produce something new and stop marking time as it has appeared to have done since the introduction of sound twenty odd years ago, some of us are going to sit at home come evenings hugging our TV sets in the sulks.

By the way, on Tuesday, Armistice Day, the Fox will feature that most magical and wonderful of all Disney creations, "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs." See spots on the other night. I was thrilled. I had quite forgotten how utterly magnificent it was. If your children haven't seen this please take them. It is something they will never forget.

The amiable letters and phone calls I receive are always welcome, naturally. But I get a lift also from those not quite so complimentary. In yesterday's mail came one berating me for my high rating of "Ivanhoe." Here it is:

Dear Sir:
 A short while ago you gave a good rating (I gave it my highest Oscar Class) to the film "Ivanhoe." May I ask why?

I went to see it and paid 75c for the matinee. It was a poor distortion of Scott's classic.

U.S. May Not Allow Singer Josephine Baker to Return

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10 (UPI)—Singer Josephine Baker may be barred from the United States if she seeks to return after a current tour of South America, according to a justice department spokesman.

Miss Baker, a native of St. Louis, renounced her American citizenship when she married a Frenchman. She now lives in France.

The justice department spokesman would not reveal the specific complaints against the singer, but said she has been making "anti-American speeches."

Miss Baker has denounced racial segregation in this country during her current tour.

CITY CANCER CLINICS— GET GOOD UP-ISLAND SUPPORT

Up-island medical men are responding well to clinics held by Victoria doctors in various centres, Dr. H. M. Edmison told the Victoria Cancer Clinic advisory council at its last meeting. Object of the clinics is to press the need for early diagnosis and treatment, he said.

Of 25 admissions to the Victoria clinic last month, 18 cases were from Victoria and the rest from island points, Dr. Edmison said.

During October the clinic gave 601 X-Ray treatments, 137 follow-up examinations, and a total of 753 examinations and treatments.

Esquimalt's Council Talks Sewer Finance

Plan Seeks to End Possible Danger
In Forshaw-Shirley Septic Tank Area

A sewage disposal plan put forward by Esquimalt health authorities and the municipal engineer for the Forshaw-Shirley Street area in the municipality will come up for further discussion at tonight's council meeting, J. W. Allen, municipal clerk said today.

The matter aroused great public interest two weeks ago when it was alleged by residents that septic tank seepage there was responsible for a case of meningitis. This charge was refuted to some degree by city and Esquimalt medical health officers, Dr. J. L. Gayton, who said that sewage ditches were not the usual source of meningitis.

The plan, which has been approved by the residents, calls for underground pipe which will connect with each septic tank.

The system, when installed, will drain the runoff from each tank to a central sand-filter box and thence to a chlorination box before emptying into the Gorge. The system ensures against pollution of the Gorge.

Trouble arose in the past when heavy blue clay soil in the subdivision would not absorb the runoff into the tile-fields each resident had to install, according to municipal building by-laws.

Financing of the installation is the only obstacle to be ironed out.

Mrs. Guy Pickard, head of the group of residents affected, said

YOUNGSTERS SET
PLANES AFIRE
TO SETTLE BET

GREENBELT, Md., Nov. 10 (AP)—Three teenagers got into an argument over how fast an airplane would burn.

So, police said, they set one on fire — also a second plane tied down nearby.

Police said today the boys, aged 15, 16 and 17, were turned over to their parents pending a conference between the plane owners, the authorities, the boys and their parents.

How long did it take for the single-engine trainers to burn? About 25 minutes, guessed one fireman among the four companies which responded.

Put in Shape Again
PARIS, Nov. 10 (UP)—The city's sewers—famous the world over since Victor Hugo wrote "Les Misérables"—are almost back in shape after having been let run down during the war, the water department announced.

By the end of 1953, when present projects are completed, the huge tunnels should be back in classic condition.

Boat trips for tourists are operated weekly during the summer months from the Place de la Concorde under Rue Royale to the Church of the Madeleine.

Dreaded Mau Mau Terrorists Said Spreading to Tanganyika

DAR ES SALAAM, Tanganyika, Nov. 10 (AP)—Sir Edwin Twining, British governor of Tanganyika, said today the anti-white Mau Mau Society has spread from Kenya to Tanganyika. He told the legislative council that the terrorist movement has gained ground in northern Tanganyika, which has a common border with Kenya in East Africa.

Sir Edwin said intimidation has been used to force people to take Mau Mau oaths. A number of immigrant Kikuyus have been arrested and returned to Kenya, he added. Most Mau Mau terrorists come from the Kikuyus tribe.

NAIROBI, Kenya, Nov. 10 (AP)—White hunters, game wardens and national park officials joined police today in an extension of the anti-Mau Mau roundup to the Aberdare forest, 120 miles northwest of Nairobi.

Government officials said they were combing the forest because groups of natives had been concentrating there for some time.

The officials added there was no evidence of any large-scale movement of Kikuyu tribesmen.

Aerodynamically speaking— safe flight is assured by RCAF airframe technicians

It's not the engine—it's the wings that lift a plane.

At 600 miles an hour, air flows over wing and control surfaces with tremendous force. A broken surface would cause a whirlpool—break the airflow—destroy the lift—make flight impossible.

That's why all RCAF planes are daily inspected, rigged and trimmed by skilled Airframe Technicians... wings... flaps... ailerons... elevators... rudder... dive brakes... landing gear...

Whether it's an F-86 Sabre fighter or a big North Star, every RCAF plane must have an official okay from the Airframe Technician before it may take off—officially okayed for safe flight, from nose to tail.

To be eligible, you must... be between 17 and 40... be physically fit... have Grade 8 education, the equivalent or better.

Winnipeg Vets Plan Branch For Victoria

Plans for formation of a Victoria association branch of the 27th Infantry (Winnipeg) Battery were made at a reunion Saturday night at the home of Walter J. Shepherd, 1232 Judge Place.

Remembrance Day week-end prompted the reunion of World War I veterans, all of whom were original members of the battalion who spent a major part of the four years in France and Belgium.

Col. F. A. Steele, Major Ken Patton, Edward Pillage, Charles C. South, George Swales and Mr. Shepherd relived events of the war years and recalled the names of many old friends.

Mr. Shepherd will head the organization move for a Victoria branch. Any member of the 27th Infantry (Winnipeg) Battalion residing on Vancouver Island may contact him at 1242 Judge Place or B 2964.

Legion Will Demand Higher Vets' Pensions

OTTAWA, Nov. 10 (CP)—The Canadian Legion met here today to draft a demand for higher war veterans' allowances for needy and aged overseas veterans.

Legion headquarters said improvements made in allowances legislation by parliament this year are "far from adequate" and give the veterans' organization "no alternative but to launch another drive for further increases."

The maximum rates now are $50 a month for single and $90 for married recipients.

The Legion will present a brief to the Cabinet Wednesday demanding higher allowances.

Calgary Girls Held As Theft Suspects

VANCOUVER, Nov. 10 (CP)—Two teen-aged Calgary girls were being held by Vancouver police today in connection with a $1,750 robbery.

They were arrested Sunday in a parked car which contained jewelry and clothing stolen earlier from Mrs. E. A. Coates.

Dr. H. E. Ridewood, Noted Surgeon, Dies on Native Soil, in England

Dr. Harold Edward Ridewood, a resident of Victoria for the last 40 years and one of B.C.'s best-known surgeons, died Saturday at the Royal Cancer Hospital in London, Eng. He was 74.

Dr. Ridewood, a native of Enfield, Middlesex, practiced in Victoria until a few months ago. He returned to his native land last Sept. 29 to take special treatments. Mrs. Ridewood went with him.

The doctor lived at 422 St. Charles Street. He maintained an office in the Jones Building on Fort Street.

During the First World War he served overseas with the Medical Corps and was in charge of No. 1 Canadian Casualty Clearing Station. He rose to the rank of lieutenant-colonel.

He is survived by his widow, the former Mary Medd of Victoria; a son William, in Vancouver; and three daughters, Mrs. Jim Lang, Vancouver; Mrs. Elizabeth Macintosh, London, and Miss Jane Ridewood, Victoria.

Memory of Nazi 'Martyrs' May Be Key to Armistice Outrage

(The "Heil Hitler" incident which marked yesterday's Armistice observance in London was of particular interest to a Victoria resident, Mrs. B. Larkin Johnson, as the following article, written especially for the Times, she tells why.)

I expect many of you heard on the radio, that during the Armistice Day ceremony in London, Sunday, a man's voice shouted "Heil Hitler" during the two minutes' silence. Having been present at this very moving ceremony on an earlier occasion, I was awed at the silence of that vast crowd even before Big Ben boomed out the 11th hour... and during those two tense minutes, even a choked sob seemed almost sacrilege.

Therefore I can understand the horror that this voice would arouse. Perhaps I can explain it.

This man may have been one of Hitler's fanatical followers who had taken part in the extraordinary commemorative ceremony which took place every year in Munich on Nov. 9. This was the precise anniversary of Hitler's putsch in 1923.

Briefly, Hitler had attempted an insurrection there. He and about 200 followers marched up the Residenz Strasse, but Von Kahr, dictator of Bavaria at that time, had learned of the attempt, and ordered soldiers to open fire on Hitler's company.

Sixteen Nazis were killed, and after he came into power these men became martyrs of his cause. Hitler went to the most extraordinary lengths to preserve their memory.

Their bodies were exhumed and placed in two temples of honor, which he had erected in Königsplatz, near the Braun Haus, headquarters of the Nazi party. A guard of honor was changed every four hours. A large plaque was put up where they fell, and there also, a guard of honor stood motionless, to be exchanged every four hours with the usual display of Nazi showmanship.

Every year Nov. 9 was a great day of commemoration in Munich. To have been present one of these occasions was an unique experience. I was living there in 1937, and a friend, a correspondent of the London Times, asked whether I would like to drive over the route of the procession in the journalist's bus and then view the ceremony at the Königsplatz.

Naturally, I said, "Yes," and I met him and his wife at 7.30 on the morning of Nov. 9. She also was a journalist, and one other woman was there, correspondent of the Daily Telegraph. There were about 20 men, representatives of newspapers from various parts of Europe.

We drove slowly over the route which Hitler would take two hours later. Crowds had already assembled everywhere.

At intervals huge pylons had been erected, 16 of them. They were swathed in scarlet and on each one of them was a large wreath in gold leaves. At the centre was the man's name.

On top of each pylon was a large black bowl, filled with flaming pitch. Our driver stopped before each pylon and gave the Nazi salute. We did, too, automatically.

Eventually we reached the Königsplatz and went into the stand reserved for us. It was a sunny morning and there was much to occupy our attention. Various regiments from all over Germany had sent contingents. They marched in, followed by the agricultural workers, carrying spades which glittered in the sunshine.

Then came the Hitler Youth, followed by the Hitler madchen. Lastly came the famous Storm Troopers in their black uniforms. They stood directly behind the stand reserved for Hitler and his entourage.

I remarked on their fair heads as there was not a dark one amongst them. I heard that Hitler's man could become a storm trooper, his ancestry had to be traced back a hundred years to show that he had not one drop of Jewish blood.

And now an air of tense expectancy swept over all of us.

The relatives of the 16 men arrived, all in deep mourning. They occupied chairs placed in front of the temples, and shortly after there was a terrific roll of drums, and Hitler arrived. He walked slowly down the huge square followed by his chief Nazi leaders. They stood and waited while Hitler shook hands with the relatives. Then he went up the step and was given a wreath. Another roll of beating drums and a name is called out. This happened 16 times and each time Hitler went inside and each time laid a wreath on each sarcophagus.

This finished, Hitler went to his stand and then every arm went up and they sang "Deutschland über Alles." That is, every arm but mine until my friend whispered, "Quick, put your arm up or you will be arrested."

The whole scene is indelibly printed on my memory, therefore I can imagine that a man who had actually taken part in this ceremony could have been so affected by the hushed stillness of the two minutes' silence, that his mind would go back, and involuntarily, he cried out "Heil Hitler!"

I wonder if we shall learn the answer?

BETWEEN TIMES

By MONTE ROBERTS

Catching up with the week-end reading, or your newspaper is always at your service:

From the question and answer page:

"Q.—When are accidents classed as catastrophes?"

"A.—Catastrophes are accidents killing five or more people, according to life insurance statisticians."

Hey—how about answering the first question?

From an advertisement for a nose-and-throat remedy:

WATCH YOUR THROAT!
HELP PREVENT A COLD!

I tried that, and now I have the damndest crick in the neck. What should I do?

From the helpful hints around home column:

"Tis Autumn... a portable incinerator cart, with 18-cubic-capacity, is a boon to those who want to burn leaves or refuse."

You mean, I have a choice? Then I refuse, on general principles.

From the help wanted columns:

"Wanted... girls to travel... you must be completely free to travel... unless you can pack your suitcase within 24 hours do not apply."

If it takes you more than 24 hours to pack, you are just a mite too slow for this organization.

From the same department:

"REQUIRE TWO MEN. Can you fill the bill?"

Maybe not fill it, but couldn't I meet you half way?

From the latest reports on fengle fashions:

"... three dimensional flowers on your petticoat. One pretty black taffeta evening petticoat is trimmed with geraniums—this is worn under a black lace overskirt."

You'd think the geraniums would do better out in the sunshine.

And also of interest to females:

"... at winter resorts the asymmetrical décolletage. On the Italian Riviera one shoulder is bared for evening in draped chiffon; for day, a beach dress with halter top is tied at the side."

I got lost somewhere on the edge of the Riviera, trying to imagine a bare shoulder draped in chiffon with a beach dress tied to it.

I think I will stop reading the female pages.

The B.C. Electric Company's publication, the Buzzer, reminds us the company's Lost Property department is now located in the Transit Administration Office, Gorge Road.

The change from the former Pandora Avenue location was made at the end of last month.

The Buzzer does not report whether the change has made a marked impression on bus revenues as yet.

At any rate, the B.C.E. can now be sure of an extra 20 cents per lost article.

Nurse Hold-Up Victim

Downtown Street Scene of Attack

A registered nurse screamed futilely for aid on Douglas Street at 12.25 this morning when a man dressed as a naval seaman threatened her, and clamped a hand roughly over her mouth.

Lucia Lee, 538 Caledonia, told police she was walking along Douglas near Pandora when the man approached from behind and, with a hand in his coat pocket, as though holding a weapon, demanded:

"Be quiet and give me what you've got."

The nurse said she tried to ignore the man, but he continued to follow her, and repeated his demand.

She proffered her handbag and purse to the man, but he did not take them. Frightened, Miss Lee screamed three times, and then the man clamped a hand over her mouth to stifle her screams.

He finally released her, and walked quickly up Pandora.

The man reported missing is identified as A. Ackerman, about 35. He apparently wandered off alone while hunting with Mrs. C. Willard. Three shots were heard, believed from Ackerman's gun, but he could not be located.

The three shots are a recognized distress call in the woods.

A 16-man search party was organized Sunday evening, but the hunt had hardly begun when it had to be called off because of darkness. It was resumed this morning.

An R.C.M.P. searchmaster and police dog from Parksville reached the scene early today to participate.

SUNDAY BLAZE WRECKS HOME

Close to $3,000 damage was done by fire to the home of R. F. Barrett, 610 Pine, in a blaze that broke out around 9 Sunday morning.

City firemen quenched the fire after it had broken through to the upstairs of the house.

The fire was caused by hot ashes in a cardboard box placed near a wall, firemen said.

Victor's participation in festivities to mark the coronation of Queen Elizabeth next June will be referred to the 1953 finance committee by Mayor Claude Harrison.

"Victoria should certainly make plans to celebrate the occasion," the mayor said today. "It is an important date for the empire."

Owing to the lateness of the year, the mayor said there was little point in referring the question to any of the 1952 committees.

Of interest to the many Victorians planning to travel to Britain for the coronation is the announcement by British railways of a North America "travel bargain."

In connection with special facilities for trans-Atlantic visitors, the special nine-day "Unlimited Travel" ticket will be repaid from November 1 at $24 third class and $36 first class.

Valid for nine consecutive days, it is good for travel by any train (with exception of a few continental boat trains from London) by day or night services anywhere on British Railways' 20,000 miles of routes.

Victoria Merchant, George Carr, Dies In Atlantic Liner

George Carr, a well-known Victoria merchant, died suddenly aboard the Atlantic liner Queen Elizabeth, westbound to New York, according to word received here.

Mr. Carr, proprietor of the Piccadilly Shoppe, 1017 Government Street, was returning from a buying trip in the United Kingdom. He left Victoria six weeks ago.

He is survived by his wife, Evelyn, and a son, Alan David, 12, who reside at 1020 Falkland Road.

Funeral services for Mrs. Phyllis Grace Jennings, 81, an active church worker, who died suddenly at her home, 3920 Shelbourne Street, were held today in the Metropolitan United Church. Dr. F. E. H. James officiated.

Burial took place in St. Luke's Cemetery. Rev. Canon Frederick Pike officiated at the graveside service.

She is survived by her husband, William; two sons, Kenneth and Arthur; one daughter, Mrs. Percy Boorman; seven grandchildren; and two great-grandsons, all of Victoria; two brothers, William Knapp and Arthur Knapp, also of Victoria.

Budgies Are Fascinating Pets; Toys Amuse Them!

By PENNY SAVER

I made the fatal mistake of asking a friend if he knew anything about budgie birds.

Not knowing anything about them myself, and having found a store with toys for the birds, I thought I should have some knowledge of the little creatures.

Once again I was buffeted by strong remarks.

"Do I know anything about budgie birds?" he bellowed, "I'll say I do. My mother-in-law has one. It's a spilt little monster. Chatters all day long and fights with its image in a mirror."

While this type of pet doesn't appeal to my friend there are many who feel differently.

I know of other people who think there is no other pet to compare with them.

Granted, they very often challenge their reflection in the mirror, and they do chatter, there's no getting away from that. But think how pleasant that would be for people suffering from loneliness.

Budgies are extremely intelligent. I know of one who pecks at a bell at the side of his cage and then repeats the noise in his throat. He has plenty of other fascinating tricks tucked in his feathers, too.

For one, when he is let out of his cage, he makes a bee-line for the tap and helps himself to a drink from the drip.

If you have a budgie, or know of a friend who has one, you'll be interested in the selection of toys made especially for these birds.

There is a bell strung on a frame that will tinkle delightfully when the bird pecks at it. It is priced at 39 pennies.

Then there's a two-tone plastic ball that will rattle as he rolls it across his cage. It sells for 10 pennies. Also a mirror that has a bell attached which is marked at 29 cents. And just the same as other babies, you can buy a rattle small enough for the little bird to pick up in his beak. A quarter will buy it.

Accessories for the bird's cage sell quite reasonably, too. A catch-case in plastic is $1.19, while a cover is 98 pennies.

Good Men Are Scarce For Middle-Aged Women

By ELIZABETH B. HURLOCK, Ph.D.

Some people have no trouble at all meeting all the people they want to know. Others are not so lucky, as is true of the widow who wrote.

(Q) "I am a widow of 40. What good is money when one is unhappy and lonesome? I am told there are plenty of nice people one can meet, but try and meet them. The nice ones don't run around and aren't bold. The other kind are a dime a dozen. Who wants to meet that kind? So, one never has an opportunity of meeting a nice person."

(A) It is true that, in the 40's, most men and women who want to marry have already selected their life partners and are settled down. A woman, whether she be single or a widow, has little to choose from at this age.

It is true also that there is always a fairly good sized crop of unmarried men or men who have been divorced. They range in age from the early 20's to the late 30's. But, many of them are not married because they do not want to marry. They want to have a good time without restraints and responsibilities. Many of them will consider marriage if the woman has a good sized income back of her and if she is willing to spend that on her husband.

This, of course, is not what most women want. They want the type of husband who is interested in a home and family, and who wants them, not their money. Most men of this sort are not available to a woman approaching middle-age.

There is, however, a small but desirable group of men in the 40's who are the right kind for a woman who has already had a happy marriage. They are widowers with children. To them, a wife means much more than just a wife. She must also be a mother to their children.

Most ministers know men of this sort. They have helped them through the difficult times when their wives died and when they had to make arrangements for the care of their children. They are anxious to find the right type of woman for such men. Talk to your minister about this matter and I think you will find, through him, someone who fits your bill.

If you have a personal problem, write Elizabeth Hurlock in care of this newspaper.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Poor Make-Up May Create Caricature, Not Beauty

Lip makeup has become a real art. The mouth and eyes are our two most expressive features. When makeup is carelessly and hurriedly applied it makes a caricature of the face, thus spoiling its charm.

When lip rouge looks smeared it gives us a poorly groomed appearance. It is worth taking time and trouble to select the right kind of lipstick and to learn how to apply it skillfully.

A lip brush is most effective. This may seem awkward to use at first, but with a little practice you will not want to be without it. Brace your little finger on your chin to keep the brush steady.

Be sure that your lips are dry. There are two schools of thought as to where to begin. Some experts advise you to begin at the outer corners of your mouth and draw the line to the centre of the mouth. I myself think it is better to begin at the centre and draw toward the corners. Once you have drawn the lines outlining the shape of your lips fill in with lipstick. Wait for a few minutes and then blot with tissue.

If you have real defects in lip contour, the manner in which you make your mouth up can make a wonderfully happy change in the way you look. For instance, if your lips are too thin to be attractive draw the lines a little outside of the natural line, with a bit of extra fullness at the centre of the mouth. The slightest bit added to the fullness of the lips can work magic.

If your mouth is too wide stop the line a little short of the corners of the mouth.

If the lips are too full pull the lines in a bit.

If one lip is fuller than the other, fill out the thinner one or draw the line in on the fuller one, or some of both. Find through experimentation which is most becoming to you.

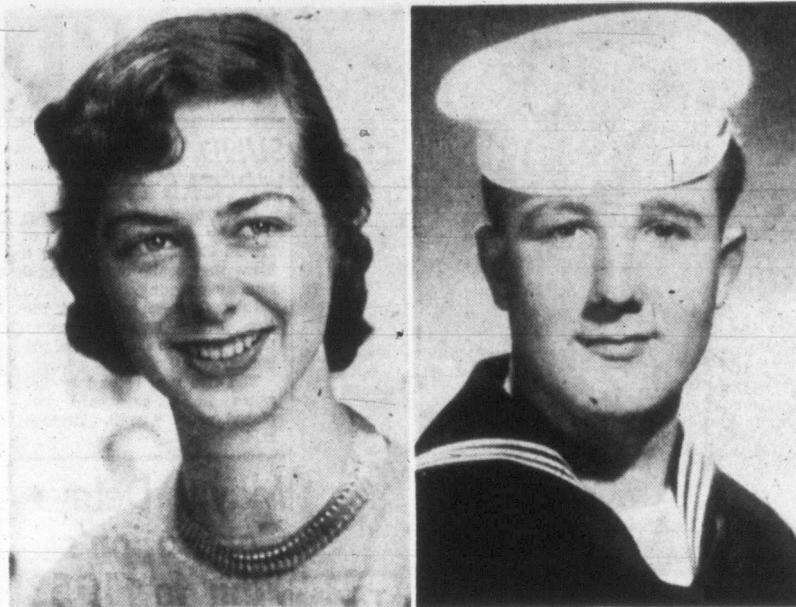

If your mouth is too small draw the lines all the way to the corners.

Today practically every woman is aware that the color of her lipstick must blend with the color

Esquimalt—Next meeting of Esquimalt P.T.A. will be held in the High School on November 18, instead of this Tuesday, Armistice Day, as originally planned. A membership drive is being held at present, home and home parties being arranged, also a bowling afternoon. Recent home cooking sale was a success.

New Members—Initiation of six new members, Mesdames B. Boulter, E. Evans, G. Sprague, V. Legier, E. E. Crawford and Miss L. Wilson, took place at meeting of Ladies' Auxiliary, Army, Navy and Air Force Veterans. Mrs. Olive Dugdale was in the chair. Plans for the auxiliary banquet in December were made and members wishing to attend will contact Mrs. M. Urwin, E 8746, or Mrs. Rathbone, the chairman. Hospital report was given by Mrs. E. Hopwood.

Calities—Plans were made for the annual bazaar, to be held on November 22, in K. of P. Hall, when members of the Callett Club, St. Andrew's and Caledonian Society, met recently at the home of Mrs. Irving Strickland. Next meeting will be held on Thursday at the home of Mrs. David Hill.

Carmichael, Vancouver, aunts of the bride; Mr. and Mrs. W. J. McNaughton, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Hull and Mr. Don Snowden, Vancouver; Mr. and Mrs. Robert N. Lee, New Westminster; Miss Nancy Fleming, West Summerland.

Annual bazaar, St. Aidan's United Church Ladies' Guild, assisted by Mount Tolmie Circle and Margaret Irvine Evening Auxiliary, Wednesday in church hall, commencing at 2:30.

Oak Bay United Church the Setting For Domoney-Beckwith Wedding

Baskets of chrysanthemums in shades of white, cream, yellow and mauve created an attractive setting for the wedding of Sheila Mary Beckwith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Arthur Beckwith, Oliver Street, and Bennett George Domoney, Vancouver, in Oak Bay United Church Saturday evening. Dr. W. W. McPherson officiated.

Lawton Partington played traditional music as the bride walked up the aisle on the arm of her father, and "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring," during signing of register.

The bride's gown of heavy white satin was fashioned in classic lines. Her veil, worn by Mrs. George Loker, the former Miss Elsie Vantreight at her wedding, was sent from New Orleans. It was of silk net edged with lace and was worn over the face misting from a coronet of tiny white carnations. The bridal ensemble was complemented with a crescent-shaped bouquet of white carnations and gold-tipped Johanna Hill rosebuds with white heather. Her only jewelry was a pearl necklace.

Mrs. G. A. Vantreight, Jr., was matron of honor for her sister, and Miss Nancy Fleming, West Summerland, was bridesmaid. They wore similar gowns with satin bodices and nylon net skirts over taffeta in creamy yellow and mauve respectively. Their tiny hats were matching brocade and net with clusters of chrysanthemums at either side. They carried bouquets of matching chrysanthemums.

Don Snowden, Vancouver, was best man, and ushers were G. A. Vantreight, brother-in-law of the

To Open Bazaar

Mrs. P. B. Scurrah, international president, P.E.O. Sisterhood, will officially open at 2:30 p.m. the fall tea and bazaar to be given by Chapter Y, P.E.O. Sisterhood, on Saturday, in the Business and Professional Women's Clubrooms, 904 Government St. Guests will be received by Mrs. J. P. MacPherson, chapter president. Mrs. W. R. Jackson is general convener. Articles for sale will be aprons, children's wear, babies' wear, knitted articles, homecooking, toys, Christmas cards and novelties. In charge of stalls will be Mrs. K. A. Willis, Mrs. G. Jennings, Mrs. S. F. Brain, Mrs. B. M. Kenton, Mrs. W. O. Cameron. During the afternoon tea will be served under the convener'ship of Mrs. N. S. Edmonds. Mrs. C. B. Peterson will handle sale of tea tickets at door.

Annual Penny Sale Planned by Chapters

Ford, Navy League Chapter, general convener, and Mrs. J. Jones, regent of Navy League Chapter. Others helping are Miss Peggy McNeill, secretary for sale; Mrs. F. M. Nobbs and Mrs. M. Campbell, tickets; Mrs. W. Watt, cake raffle; Mrs. Gerry Gosley, publicity; Mesdames G. Watson, H. Langton and A. W. E. Pitkethley, display. A presale of tickets will be held in B.C. Electric show-rooms.

Bramley-Holland Vows Exchanged Among Flowers in St. John's Church

A gown of rich cream brocade designed exclusively for her, was worn by Loraine Mary Holland when she exchanged nuptial vows with James Hall Bramley at a ceremony Saturday evening in St. John's Anglican Church.

Canon George Biddle officiated for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Holland, Richmond Road, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. Bramley, Brighton Avenue.

Bronze, yellow and burgundy chrysanthemums with fern decorated the church and marked guest pews. "O Perfect Love" was sung by Mrs. Norman Duckworth, accompanied by F. Chubb. The bride, given in marriage by her father, complemented her gown with a bouquet of Johanna Hill roses and Fuji chrysanthemums. The gown was styled with a high-winged collar and closed at the back with looped buttons which were repeated on the sleeves which came to a lily-point. The molded basque extended into accentuated scalloped petals and met voluminous folds in the skirt which swept into a long train. Her headdress of cream pearl flowers and leaves held the full-length veil of misty illusion net.

Mrs. D. R. Roberts, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. She wore a gown of burgundy velvet, fashioned in Princess topcoat of worsted touched with dark blue panels and cuffs. Her accessories were grey and red and she wore a grey feathered hat.

Bridesmaids, Miss Pat Pottinger, cousin of the groom, and Miss Yvonne Thompson, Nanaimo, wore identical gowns in gold and lime respectively, styled with strapless bodices topped with short jackets with bandeaux in their hair. The attendants carried bouquets of autumn-toned chrysanthemums.

The flower girl, Sharon Roberts, niece of the bride, wore a soft moss-green satin brocade frock with dark green velvet ribbon at the waist. She carried a colonial bouquet of chrysanthemums.

Keith Olson was best man, and ushers were W. D. Oliver, Victoria; T. Taylor, Vancouver, and D. McPhee, New Westminster.

Johnnie Thompson, Nanaimo, proposed the toast at a reception in the Oak Bay Beach Hotel. The bride's table was centred with a wedding cake topped with sweetheart roses, and chrysanthemums dotted the table. A silver heirloom knife was used to cut the cake.

Following a honeymoon motoring in the United States the newlyweds will return, via Vancouver, to make their home in Victoria.

For traveling the bride wore a dark blue worsted tailleur with

ISLAND DIGEST

DUNCAN, Nov. 10—Pat Kealey, former resident of Duncan now in England, has won acclaim for his articles in the Manchester Guardian exposing abuse of horses being shipped to European slaughterhouses.

On loan from a Vancouver paper, Mr. Kealey reportedly refused a $1,500 bribe to drop his investigations.

LAKE COWICHAN, Nov. 10—Lake Cowichan Kinsmen Club was awarded a trophy for its work on police. It was accepted by James Gordon, club president.

DUNCAN, Nov. 10—Funeral services were held here today for Mrs. Kate Rose Poirier, 78, who died Saturday in hospital here. She arrived in Canada in 1919, first making her home at Otter Point, near Sooke, until moving to Duncan 30 years ago.

YOUBOU, Nov. 10—Office of the B.C.M.P. detachment here will be closed at the end of this month and policing will be done from Lake Cowichan.

Constable W. P. Aylward, detachment head, will move to Victoria and join the B.C. headquarters of the force.

LANGFORD, Nov. 10—Volunteer firemen were called to two fires on Saturday and extinguished both before serious damage was done.

They were a grass fire at the home of Allan Brown, 879 Island Highway, and flames from an oil burner that spread to the floor and walls of the home of J. Parnell, Station Road.

LADYSMITH, Nov. 10—Mrs. Elsie Berod, 77, native of Belgium who came to Canada in 1903 and has lived in Ladysmith since 1908, died Saturday in Ladysmith General Hospital. Surviving are a daughter, Mrs. Elma Conti, and one son, Raymond, both of Ladysmith. Funeral will be held Wednesday at 10.30 a.m.

NANAIMO, Nov. 10—Plans have begun here for the raising of funds to build a new Salvation Army citadel and youth centre to serve the Nanaimo area. Regular building fund drive will be made next spring.

TOFINO, Nov. 10—The body of Mrs. Ethel Williams, 25, missing for several days, was found on Vargas Island. Death was believed caused by exposure.

According to reports she tried to row a boat from Tofino to the Opisat Indian Reserve after attending a dance. Police believe she lost her direction in a storm and beached the skiff.

Co-Op Movement Grows in Canada

EDMONTON, Alta., Nov. 10 (BUP).—Officials of the Co-operative Union of Canada announced today that the 1953 congress of the organization will be held at Edmonton next March.

The theme of the convention will be "the responsibility of government toward the co-operative movement."

A co-op union spokesman says one out of every 10 Canadians belongs to a co-operative, and the delegates will discuss the policy they believe the federal and provincial governments should adopt with respect to co-ops. Delegates from all across Canada are expected at the session.

ON 'LITTLE GIBRALTAR' HILL

Canadians Awarded for Bravery

SEOUL, Nov. 10 (Monday) (Reuters).—Two officers and a sergeant of the Royal Canadian Regiment have been decorated for their action October 23 when the Chinese assaulted Little Gibraltar Hill, the British Commonwealth division announced Sunday night.

They are Capt. Herbert George Cloutier of Barrie, Ont., and Lieut. John Clark of Beebe, Que., both of whom won military crosses, and Sgt. Gerald Emerson Peter Enright of Winnipeg, B.C.

Ont., who won the military medal.

Clark was commander of a platoon in B Company which took the Communist attack. Enright was his sergeant. Cloutier was commander of E Company which held B Company's flank.

The citation said Clark assisted casualties over open ground during a Communist barrage and then returned to fight, throwing grenades and manning a rifle and machine-gun until the ammunition was expended.

When he realized annihilation or surrender was imminent, he reorganized the remainder of his platoon and successfully withdrew, bringing with him one wounded man.

British Reds, Pro-Nazis Brawl in London

LONDON, Nov. 10 (AP)—A postwar revival of the Hitler-loving Red revolution celebration attended by the Red Dean of Canterbury and a counter-demonstration by the British Union Movement touched off a street brawl in London Saturday night. The union movement is the at the rally celebrating the Russian revolution anniversary, along with the Red Dean, who was loudly applauded for his pro-Soviet speech.

Communists and anti-Fascist Britons clashed with Union Movement members for about 15 minutes at the counter-rally, but

The factions fought with rotten apples, stones, fireworks and fists before the battle was brought under control. No serious injuries were reported.

3 Years Underwater, Island Barge Floats

A barge abandoned by her owners and underwriters as a total loss was refloated Sunday from the grave at Zeballos which held her for three years.

The barge Manning No. 2 sat on the beach tonight after being hauled from the underwater ravine where she squatted upside down from a punch delivered by a Pacific storm.

The $50,000, all-steel barge was owned by the Manning Timber Company here when she went down at 25 feet of water off the West Coast Vancouver Island settlement with a rich cargo of lumber.

She was refloated by Island Tug & Barge Ltd., the company which purchased her last year on an "as-is, where-is" basis. The company said the 500,000 board feet of lumber, as expected, had been made worthless by time and water.

But the barge will be towed to Victoria, a trip which will take two days. She will be repaired here or in Vancouver and will resume her career as the Island Tug & Barge Company barge No. 52.

The difficult salvage operation took a week with 12 men working, including two deep-sea divers, master diver Jack Bailey and William Skinner.

They used a new type of equipment which allowed three-way communications—diver to diver as well as diver to surface.

THE DOCTOR SAYS

Fluorides Will Prevent Needless Tooth Decay

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.

There are not many people in this world who work hard for something which will cut down on their occupation and reduce their income. This, however, is exactly what the great American dental profession is now doing in its campaign to add a substance to the water supply which reduces dental decay.

Servicemen's Gift Parcels Mailed Early

Victorians mailed their Christmas parcels to the boys in Korea under the usual "last-minute rush" this year.

Deadline passed last Friday, according to Postmaster John B. Sinclair. Victorians have been mailing their parcels in such regular fashion there was no increase in volume noticed as the deadline neared.

"The usual rush did not develop," he said.

Among those children who drank fluoridated water since birth, the drop in rate of tooth decay is even greater—two-thirds.

With the overwhelming evidence that fluoridating the water supply cuts down on tooth decay, communities, at latest report, are now receiving fluoridated water.

6,150 Roses Shown In Directory List

The fourth edition of a rose directory prepared in 1930 by the late Dr. J. Horace McFarland, internationally known rose authority, has just been published. It presents non-technical descriptions of all the roses now in commerce.

In addition, there are included many now of only historical or botanical significance.

In 1930 the list numbered 2,511; this latest edition describes 6,150 roses, including 300 species or wild sorts.

While the book does not give instructions for growing roses, it does provide a great deal of information not otherwise available to rose breeders and growers.

Besides a straightforward description of the characteristics of the plant and flower, it tells all the known synonyms of each rose name, the class to which each variety belongs, the name of the originator and the date of introduction.

decay among our people: 1. Increased emphasis on dental health education. 2. Increased emphasis on dentistry for children. 3. Controlled fluoridation of public water supplies. It is the latter which is the subject of today's column.

It was some years ago that fluorides were found to add to the hardness of teeth. Patient study of the effect of fluorides on the teeth was then conducted for many years, and finally the practical value was considered proved and the campaign was begun to fluoridate the public water supply so that tooth decay—and incidentally, the work of dentists in filling cavities—would be decreased.

What can be expected by communities which add fluorides to the water? In Newburg, N.Y., which instituted fluoridation of its water in 1944, there has been a 47 per cent decrease in the rate of tooth decay among elementary school pupils. This figure was obtained by comparing tooth decay of children in a neighboring city, Kingston, in which the water supply was not fluoridated.

Among those children who drank fluoridated water since birth, the drop in rate of tooth decay is even greater—two-thirds.

With the overwhelming evidence that fluoridating the water supply cuts down on tooth decay, communities, at latest report, are now receiving fluoridated water.

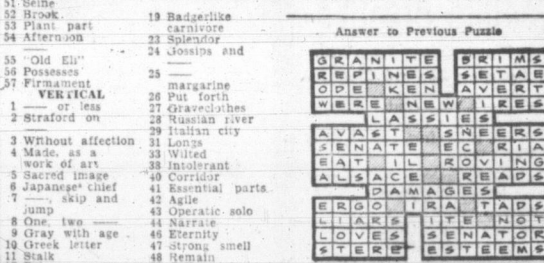

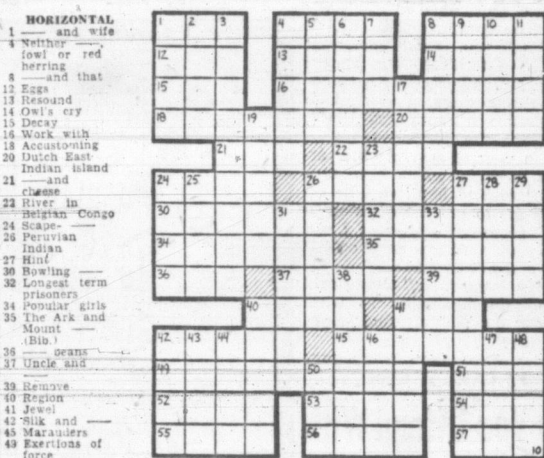

FIND NO SIGN OF HARM

Curiously enough this program has been opposed in spite of the fact that the effect on tooth decay is so definite, and that neither the medical profession through its constituted agencies, nor the public health profession, has found any evidence that fluoridated water in the concentrations recommended produces any harmful effects on those who drink it.

Some of us who have spent hours in the dentist's chair having cavities filled would be happy to approve any method which would cut this experience in half.

Ex-Soldier Pays $35.80 For Socka Sergeant

FRANKLIN, Ind., Nov. 10 (AP)—Judson Hendricks did what a lot of newly-discharged soldiers have dreamed of—he socked his former sergeant on the jaw. Sgt. Jack B. Meyer of Camp Atterbury thereupon filed assault charges. Judge Orval Barnett Friday fined Hendricks $35.80 and gave him a 30-day suspended sentence.

Seattle Fares Hit 20 Cents

SEATTLE, Nov. 10 (AP)—The Seattle Transit Commission announced Friday it would raise bus fares here to 20 cents straight or three tokens for half a dollar.

Present rates are 15 cents a fare, or seven tokens for $1.

The commission said the boost was made necessary by a new contract with its workers which will increase operating expenses more than $500,000 yearly.

The agreement gives all employees a five-cent hourly raise and guarantees regular drivers $328.00 a month, with their hourly scales $1.89.

THE CAINE MUTINY

Twentieth installment from the book THE CAINE MUTINY, copyright, 1951, by Herman Wouk. Distributed by Doubleday Syndicate.

Queeg shook his head decisively, reached forward, and crushed out his cigarette. "No, Captain. I assure you I appreciate what you say, but I am not so stupid as to lie to a superior officer, and I assure you my first version of what happened is correct and I do not believe I have made any mistake as yet in commanding the Caine nor do I intend to, and, as I say, finding the calibre of my officers and crew to be what it is, I am simply going to get seven times as tough as usual and beat down seven times as hard until the ship is up to snuff, which I promise you will be soon."

"Very well, Commander Queeg," Grace rose, and when Queeg started to get up he said, "Stay where you are, stay where you are." He went to a shelf on the wall, took down a round purple tin of expensive English tobacco, and refilled his pipe. When he was lighting the pipe with a thick wooden match he inquisitively regarded the Caine captain, who was rolling non-existent balls again.

"Commander Queeg," he said suddenly, "about the—puff puff—defective—towline—puff puff—that broke. How much of a turn were you making?"

Queeg's head tilted sideways; he darted a look full of suspicion at the captain. "I was using standard rudder, of course, sir. I have never exceeded standard rudder with the target, as my logs will show."

"That's not what I mean," Grace returned to his seat, and leaned forward, waving the smoking pipe at Queeg. "How far did you turn? Twenty degrees? Sixty degrees? Were you reversing course—180 degrees or what?"

The Caine skipper gripped the arms of the chair with bony knuckles, saying, "I'd have to check in my logs, sir, but I don't see what bearing it has on the matter how much of a turn it was, so long as—"

"Did you come around in a complete circle, Commander Queeg, and cut your own towline?"

Queeg's jaw dropped. He closed and opened his mouth a couple of times and at last said in a low, furious tone, stammering a little, "Captain Grace, with all submission, sir, I must tell you that I resent that question, and regard it as a personal insult."

Grace's stern expression wavered. He looked away from Queeg. "No insult intended, Commander. Some questions are more unpleasant to ask than to answer—Did that happen or didn't it?"

"If it did, sir, I think I ought to have recommended my own general court-martial."

Grace stared hard at Queeg. "I must tell you, Commander, that you have troublemakers aboard your ship. We received a rumor here this morning. I seldom take cognizance of such scuttlebutt. However, the admiral heard it, and in view of several other actions of yours which have seriously troubled him, why, he ordered me to put the question to you. However, I suppose I can take your word as a naval officer that it didn't happen—"

"May I know, sir," Queeg said in a faltering tone, "in what respect the admiral finds fault with me?"

"Well, hang it man, first time under way you run up on the mud—of course, that can happen to anybody—but then you try to duck a grounding report and request, why, it's just a phony gun-deck job. And then what do you call that dispatch to us yesterday? 'Dear me, I've lost a target, please, ComServPac, what shall I do?' Admiral blew up like a land mine. Not because you lost the target—because you couldn't make a decision that was so obvious a seaman second class could have made it! If the function of a superior officer is to make decisions and take responsibility, what is it?"

Queeg's upper lip raised, showing his teeth in a mechanical half-smile. "By your leave, sir, I made my estimate of the situation and my decision. Then, considering the expense of the target which you have just mentioned and all, I made another decision, which was that the matter ought to be referred to higher authority. As for the grounding report I did not try to duck it, sir. I did not wish to trouble higher authority with a dispatch about a trivial matter. It seems to me that I am being reproved here in one case for bothering higher authority, and in the other case for not bothering higher authority. I respectfully submit, sir, that the admiral ought to make up his mind as to which policy he prefers. There was a glimmer of triumph in the down-hung face.

Lay Preacher-Premier

Currently touring eastern Canada, Premier Ernest Manning of Alberta told a large audience in Cooke's Presbyterian Church, Toronto, that they must reject materialism and "give God his rightful place in your life, home and the councils of your land." The lay preacher-politician, who has stirred a large western audience with his "Back to the Bible" radio broadcasts, denied that his tour of eastern Canada had any political motives.

Drought Seriously Affects York Lands

TORONTO, Nov. 10 (CP)—A serious drought is affecting land in York County and nearby districts. In some areas the ground is so cracked and hard that farmers are not plowing.

Fall wheat planted in September is suffering from the dry spell and farmers whose land is not near a creek are hauling water to their properties. Private wells are drying up.

The meteorological office at Malton reported that rainfall during the last three months was "way short of normal."

In the first nine days of November, 0.12 inches of rain fell. The normal for the entire month is 2.76.
